Storms Sweep Salt River Valley; 1 Drowned

CLOUDBURST CAUSE OF HEAVY LOSS

Freak Wind, Rain and Hail Storm Scatters Debris Over Wide Area

CENTERS AT PHOENIX

State Highway and Railroad Washed Out as Creeks Overflow Banks

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 4.—(UP)—The Salt River valley today dug out from debris scattered over a wide area by a freak wind, rain and hail storm that brought death to a Mexican youth and caused thousands of dollars in damage.

The fury of the storm centered about Phoenix, extending into the Patagonia district, where a 13-year-old Mexican youth was drowned in Sonora creek, following one of the worst cloudbursts reported in 20 years.

The creek was turned into a raging torrent and overflowed on the Southern Pacific trestle at Patagonia, washing out the state highway near Tubac and flooding the town.

Telephone service into Buckeye and Tucson was disrupted most of the night. The service had not been restored to Buckeye at noon today. More than two miles of telegraph and telephone wires were reported down along the highway leading into the town.

Electric light and telephone services in Phoenix were disrupted for several hours as the freak dust and rain storm was whipped by a 60-mile an hour wind. Trees were uprooted, small houses and barns were overturned and many lettuce and vegetable sheds between Litchfield and Glendale were destroyed.

In the Flagstaff and Prescott area a heavy rain and hail storm brought .36 inches of moisture into the drought stricken area, the first heavy rain of the season. A heavy blanket of snow covered the town.

Foreign Legion Loses Lord As New Recruit

DUNKIRK, France, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Lord Edward Montagu, second son of the duke of Manchester, returned to England today after a brief ambition to join the French Foreign Legion.

Montagu was a member of the crew of the yacht aboard which Walter Wanderswell was killed at Long Beach, Calif.

He flew to France yesterday to join the Legion. In Paris he met some friends from California. He began thinking of the hot sands of Africa and the cool beverages of France and England, and of the five year enlistment.

He boarded a channel steamer for Folkestone, England, at 2 a. m. today with the Californians, announcing he would not be a Legionnaire.

Montagu's mother is the former Helena Zimmerman of Cincinnati. She and the duke were divorced in 1931.

ADMINISTRATOR OF AAA EXTOLS FARMERS' AID

Davis Says Drought Has Proven Necessity of Federal Leadership

RENO, Nev., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Assembling "hands off" tactics of post-war Republican administrations, Chester C. Davis, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act, today extolled the "active partnership" of government with farmers.

The new deal will not tolerate "the jungle law of survival of the fittest," he told the western farm bureau conference here.

Davis declared the drought had proved "beyond any question the necessity for federal leadership." His arguments in defense of the farm program and attacks on the "old order" paralleled closely those employed earlier this week by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Undersecretary Rexford G. Tugwell. All repudiated the principle of "laissez faire" and attacked persons who seek to fashion the drought to political usage.

"If proof were needed opponents of farm legislation will grasp at any straw to bolster their argument the government should stand aside, forgo leadership and abandon the farmers to their fate," Davis said, "their reasoning on the drought would be proof enough."

"For them, the drought shows, not the need of government help for farmers but a cause for government to retire and offer no more help."

Davis said the argument the drought had eliminated surpluses and obliterated the agricultural adjustment program was invalid because, forgo leadership and abandon the farmers to their fate, Davis said, "their reasoning on the drought would be proof enough."

FIRST CHURCH IS DISCOVERED AT CATHEDRAL

Papal Archaeologists Find First Pope's Residence Built About 324

(Copyright 1934 by United Press) ROME, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Papal archaeologists, after searching 100 years, today found the first Christian church and residence of the popes, beneath the historic St. John Lateran.

The discovery, considered one of the most important in recent years, was made by accident. Workmen had been repairing the floors at the lowest level of the Lateran cathedral, in which are numerous crypts. Digging for a new foundation, the workmen's picks struck a hard surface. It proved to be a wall.

The find was conveyed to the Vatican archaeologists, who immediately ordered that the outlines of the walls be followed.

Finally, today, pieces of fourth century masonry was uncovered. The archaeologists agreed there was sufficient evidence to corroborate their belief the masonry was part of the original walls of the first church, which according to tradition was started in 324 by Emperor Constantine the First.

Originally, St. John Lateran was called the Basilica of the Saviour. It is known and revered throughout the Catholic world as "the mother church and the head of all churches of the city and of the world."

It stands on the Vatican hill and according to tradition, it is the site of St. Peter's tomb.

WEBB SHADLE WILL SUCCEED KINGSBURY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Webb Shadle, attorney and deputy in the Division of State Lands, today was named chief of the division, succeeding W. S. Kingsbury, veteran, who resigned recently.

The appointment was announced by Finance Director Rolland Vandegrift, under whose department the State Lands Division is operated. Gov. Frank F. Merriam approved of the selection.

Shadle has been attorney for the division for seven years. He will continue handling his legal work along with his new duties. His salary of $5100 will not be increased.

"The change enables the state to save $5000 annually, since that was the salary paid General Kingsbury," Vandegrift said.

SHORTAGE OF SIGNATURES DOOMS BILLS

Syncrotax and Sales Tax to Fail of Ballot; Local Option Doubtful

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Unless more than 50,000 new signatures are presented the secretary of state by Tuesday midnight, the state sales tax will not be endangered by a repeal initiative in November, Secretary Frank C. Jordan revealed today.

Petitions bearing 60,000 signatures have been received by the secretary. A total of 110,811 signatures is necessary to place an initiative petition on the ballot.

The signatures already received include those obtained on petitions circulated in Los Angeles, where feeling against the tax was particularly noticeable, and in San Francisco.

Tuesday midnight is the deadline for petitions to reach the secretary of state. Officials were doubtful whether 50,011 signatures would be filed by that time.

The syncrotax proposal also appeared doomed, since only 32,317 signatures, including those from Los Angeles, have been filed. This initiative proposal also originated in Los Angeles and was believed to find its greatest support there.

A proposal to substitute local option for the present state liquor control system may reach the ballot on the strength of Los Angeles petitions. Signatures thus far received total only 37,000, but do not include those obtained in the southern metropolis, originating point of the proposition.

EUROPE REALLY WENT TO WAR TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Twenty years ago today Europe really went to war. The horror with which sober minded Europeans had contemplated hostilities gave way to the human thrill at the tramp of soldiers' feet to the blare of military bands.

Statesmen who started the war defended their action before cheering parliaments and expressed their determination to fight to the last able bodied man, until they alone should be left to hurl defiance from their rostra at the foe.

New Violence Breaks Out In Minneapolis

Governor Warns Employers Grant "Decent Terms;" Deadline Sunday Night

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Two picketing truck drivers were shot and wounded severely by a non-union driver today in a new wave of the violence which has filled 19 days of a paralyzing transportation strike.

George Schritts, 28, was shot in the head and Earl Collins, 36, was shot in a leg. Physicians said neither was in dangerous condition.

Patrol cars of national guardsmen converged at the scene of the fighting within a few minutes. Leo Holscher, the shooting driver of a truck Schritts and Collins had halted, was taken into custody.

Guardsmen found the wounded pickets on the ground, Holscher standing over them with a shotgun. The remainder of a band of guerrilla pickets, one of those which has spread a reign of terror through Minneapolis streets, had fled.

Holscher said about 15 pickets attacked him and his helper, Alfred Nelson, while they were making deliveries in an ice cream truck operating under a military permit.

"They hit me in the back with a rock, smashed the windshield and began to throw ice cream around me," Holscher said.

"I grabbed a shotgun I carried on the roof of the cab and fired. I aimed low, and I think most of the shot hit the ground."

Photographs of the strike-breaking truck driver were suppressed by newspapers at the "request" of military authorities.

The military communication to newspapers, which was at first interpreted as an order, later was modified by Adjutant General Edward Walsh. General Walsh explained the "request" was not intended as censorship.

The first request for suppression of the photograph of the driver as he was being taken into military headquarters came from the provost marshal's office.

Asked for an explanation, General Walsh emphasized that the communication was intended merely as a request "in order not to put the driver on the spot."

He feared that publication of the picture might enable striking truck drivers to identify the driver.

HANDS PAY CHECK TO WIFE, SAYS ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(UP)—George Bancroft's second wife, to whom he has been married for 17 years, collects his pay check every week, assumes all the financial worries, and allows him "spending money" like many another American husband, the broad-shouldered actor revealed today in a deposition.

Bancroft, facing a suit for separate maintenance filed by his first wife, Mrs. Edna Bancroft, made the deposition after dramatically confronting her for the first time in nearly a score of years.

The actor said he was separated from his first wife in 1914 because "she was jealous of Broadway beauties and smelled perfume on my coat one night."

FIRE MENACES HEADQUARTERS OF HUEY LONG

Flames Breaks Out in the Roosevelt Hotel at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Fire broke out today in the Roosevelt hotel, elaborate headquarters in the heart of the business district and home of Senator Huey P. Long's political headquarters.

The blaze started in a pipe shaft and spread quickly from the tenth floor to a paint shop on the top floor. Flames broke through the roof.

A general alarm brought apparatus from all parts of the business district. A huge noon-day crowd spread into the street and blocked traffic.

FORCES FACE EACH OTHER ACROSS STREET NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4.—(UP)—State troops, wearing steel helmets and gas masks, defended the registrar of voter's office for Senator Huey P. Long today in defiance of a court order.

Alarmed city officials rushed 100 special policemen to the city hall to defend it. They were armed with pistols.

The hostile "armies" faced each other across 30-foot Lafayette street.

The city's legal advisers convened to debate how they might jail Senator Long and Adjutant General Ray Fleming, troop commander, for contempt of civil district court.

Newspapers charged that registrars, under troop protection, were harassing anti-Long persons who came to register for the September 11 congressional primary. The "Times-Picayune" alleged many were being denied the right to vote, because of such trivial errors as failure to dot an "i" or cross a "t."

Senator Long, dictator of the powerful state political machine, is at war with the city government that defeated his ticket in the January municipal election.

Troops holding aloof on the registrar's office were increased to 75 during the night. They had fortified the Soule building with

SEWELL DEFIANT OF JUDICIAL BOYCOTT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Faced with united condemnation of 30 superior court judges and an investigation by the Los Angeles Bar association, Judge Harry F. Sewell defiantly announced today he would ignore the association's inquiry Monday night.

Sewell, ousted from jurisdiction of the sanity hearing of Louis Rude Payne following revelation of an affidavit purportedly signed by him admitting he was addicted to the use of intoxicants, reiterated his "ruling" the case was a mistrial.

Thirty fellow jurists all stood firmly behind Presiding Judge Frank C. Collier, who announced a "judicial boycott" against Sewell when the latter refused demands that he resign.

WILDCAT OIL WELL IS RAGING TORCH

DICKENSON, Texas, Aug. 4.—The Humble Oil and Refining company's Maceo Stewart wildcat oil test burst into a raging mass of flame today.

The well blew out when the drill unexpectedly penetrated a high-pressure gas sand at a depth of 790 feet.

The gas forced its way out of the hole, although a blowout preventer was being used, officials of the company said.

In a few minutes the wildcat well was blazing like a giant torch. Workmen said the gas was ignited by friction with the steel derrick.

Renovizing Program Starts Soon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The technique of taking the $1,500,000,000 housing program off paper and into action was almost ready today for its first test.

The housing administration which hopes to put 1,500,000 men back to work through loans to home owners for repairs, modernization, and building, is finishing drawing up the requirements for those loans.

Administrator James A. Moffatt hopes to have copies of the regulations in the hands of the 18,000 financial institutions who will finance the renovizing campaign by the middle of next week.

Moffatt wants the campaign in full swing by Aug. 15. Every effort will be made to attract homeowners to improve, enlarge or rehabilitate their property. Interest rates on renovizing loans are to be made as low as possible. Banks are being requested to waive demands for second mortgages or other collateral.

CONFIRMATION OF HITLER IS SOUGHT AUG. 19

Aim for Landslide Vote to Show World People Back New Supreme Ruler

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The late president Paul von Hindenburg left no will, it was officially announced tonight.

Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today worked on a high pressure drive to bring Germans in mass to the polls August 19 to vote Adolf Hitler into office as president-chancellor under his self-selected title of feuerher and reich chancellor.

Hitler was installed broadly—and legally—under the broad powers of the Nazi cabinet, and is the most absolute autocrat in the civilized world.

But Nazis, realizing doubts at home and abroad as to the strength of the submerged, but not dead, opposition elements, were eager to get out a landslide vote to show plainly Hitler was wanted by the nation on his own terms.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Findings indicating the innocence of David Lamson, convicted wife slayer, are ready for publication, Dr. Paul W. Reager, ex-officio member of the State Federation of Churches, appointed to study the briefs and transcript of the Lamson case revealed today.

Dr. Reager said the committee will withhold its findings until the state supreme court acts on Lamson's appeal, a decision which is expected to be handed down some time before Dec. 15.

POWER PLANS FOR PEOPLE ARE UPHELD

ly made from fir logs. Back of him were the green walls of the towering Cascade, and the swiftly flowing Columbia, "river of the west." About him were steam shovels, silent for the moment, and workers in soiled clothing.

"When in Portland two years ago I laid down the principle of the need of government yardsticks so that the people of this country will know whether they are paying the proper price for electricity of all kinds," he said.

"The government can create yardsticks. At that time, one already had been started on the Colorado river. Since then two other yardsticks have been undertaken, one in the Tennessee valley and the other on the Columbia. The fourth, the St. Lawrence, is going to be started."

In this remark, he served notice on those in congress who blocked his efforts on the proposed St. Lawrence River development that he has just begun to fight.

Mr. Roosevelt commented on other aspects of his social and economic planning program in the Bonneville address.

He envisioned the Pacific Northwest as offering the opportunity for a vastly increased population.

After the speech, the president boarded his special train which will carry him eastward to the national capital.

As the train passed over the border into the state of Washington, Indians in full war paint danced around a large log fire in his honor.

The president watched the scene from a window of his private car. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, who joined him yesterday in Portland; his son James, who flew to Portland from Wyoming; his younger sons, John and Franklin, who had accompanied their father on his trip from Annapolis through the Panama Canal to the Hawaiian Islands, then back to the continental United States.

EPHRAATA, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Accompanied by Senator C. C. Dill, Governor Clarence D. Martin and his official party, President Franklin D. Roosevelt motored today from his special train here to Grand Coulee to inspect the huge power and reclamation project.

A blazing sun beat down as the president set out for the dam site.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Six deputy sheriffs guarded a stretch of track two and one-half miles south of here last night and early today until a special train bearing President Roosevelt and his party passed safely over it at 1 a. m. today.

Sheriff G. G. Miles of Spokane reported he had two men guarding the stretch four days ago when a signalman reported he saw two men leave a box of eight sticks of dynamite and caps alongside the tracks. The dynamite was not connected with a fuse and would not have blown up if the train had passed the spot, he said. Deputies removed the dynamite four days ago.

Sheriff Miles said he had two men stationed at the spot since the dynamite was found and ordered four men to guard the stretch last night when the train passed over.

Railroad officials and officers said "usual" precautions were being taken on the route the presidential train will cover.

COULEE DAM, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt was given a tremendous ovation by 3000 persons seated in a natural amphitheater near the site of the $65,000,000 Grand Coulee dam today.

A hot sun shone on massed thousands in shirtsleeves and without hats.

Fifty Colville Indians in full head dress and gay robes, faced the president when he came to the speaker's stand.

The president, with hat in hand, continually waved to crowds massed along the roadside on the 55-mile drive from Ephrata to the dam site.

Between the president and Mrs. Roosevelt in an open automobile sat Senator C. C. Dill of Washington. Senator Dill, who worked tirelessly for Coulee dam, introduced the president.

"When he first took office he began building," Dill said.

"He built hope where there had been only despair. He built confidence in place of fear. He is building a new America, in which all will have a more abundant life."

"A builder must have vision. A builder must have faith. Our president has them all in abundance." "Ladies and gentlemen, I present to you the greatest builder who ever sat in the White House."

HONOLULU, Aug. 4.—(To the Editor of The Register)—Well, we are heading today for the broad Pacific. It's been a wonderful week here, but it would take months to see it all. They do lots of playing here, but these old missionary families do lots of work, too. One good thing about 'em, they put all their money right back in the islands. Tity-Gen. Cummings got in yesterday. He is Roosevelt's lawyer and I guess come out to straighten out some devilment his boss got in while here. Huey Long is getting more publicity out here in the papers than Hitler. If I am seasick tomorrow you won't hear from me.

HITLER HAS MORE POWER THAN WILHELM

Adolf Hitler enjoys more power than did Kaiser Wilhelm, or any other monarch of modern times, because he rules as a real autocrat, with no opposition of any sort in the open. He is absolute.

In prewar Germany, though the kaiser was powerful, he was by title a constitutional monarch. Hitler, like the kaiser, has a parliament—but it is a party affair, in effect a rubber stamp for one day to rubber stamp its approval of acts for which Hitler desires formal parliamentary sanction.

There were strong socialist and communist parties in Germany before the war; to mention socialism or communism openly now is open sesame to a concentration camp. Hitler started out, in his absolutism, where the kaiser left off.

STOCKYARD STRIKE CONFERENCE HELD

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan was called into conference today with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson today in a final effort to settle the strike that has paralyzed Chicago's union stock yards.

Judge Sullivan made the decision on which a strike settlement of last November was based. The strikers contend that the employers have not lived up to this agreement.

At the yards, peaceful picketing continued. A strong police detail was assigned to the yards, but apparently there was no use for them.

Officials of the stockyards company said, however, that violence was likely to break out at night.

FREAK STORM CAUSES HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS

San Francisco peaks in the Flagstaff area for the first time since the snow of June 2.

During the early part of the evening motorists were forced to use headlights on their automobiles for safety measures as a swirling dust storm completely enveloped the city like a heavy fog.

Rainfall in Phoenix was reported at .52 inches during the night and .80 inches was reported at Sky Harbor airport.

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., Aug. 4.—(UP)—A heavy cloudburst that struck south of here last night caused an unestimated amount of damage to crops and property and delayed the Southern Pacific de Mexico train service more than 24 hours, according to reports reaching here today.

Three feet of water was reported running over the railroad tracks near Canoa, Sonora, south of Nogales.

Dry creek beds on both sides of the international boundary line were filled to flood proportions by the night's rain.

BAKER VICTIMIZED SAYS NRA AUTHORITY

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(UP)—E. W. Nestor, Glenn Ferry, Ill., baker who said he had been ordered by the NRA to raise bread prices, has been victimized by an importer, executives of the National Bakers' council, national baker code authority, said today.

Eugene Lipp, acting chairman of the authority, said that no deputy authority or administrator has been appointed for Idaho and that no one has been authorized to act for the national authority in that state in any capacity.

The bakers' code does not provide for price fixing, said Lipp, and even if we had such power it could not have been exercised here because we have no administrator in Idaho.

"Apparently someone has been victimizing Mr. Nestor," Lipp said.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Arguing that General Hugh S. Johnson "has been fighting to control the press and substitute NRA-made opinion for public opinion," Dean Carl A. Ackerman of the Columbia School of Journalism, today had called upon newspaper editors to block an "NRA dictatorship."

Johnson's attitude opposing a government subject to public opinion is a challenge to every citizen, Ackerman declared in a speech before the California Newspaper Publishers' association.

"The fight of the publishers for freedom of the press deprived the NRA administrator of his opportunity to establish a dictatorship by law," the journalist said.

"What General Johnson wants is a press that will take orders, a press that is edited by government yes-men who will suppress every opinion not approved by an American-made dictator of propaganda."

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall returned to the White House today with her Nevada divorce papers in her red pocketbook.

President Roosevelt's only daughter, dressed in green and wearing a straw hat, arrived in Washington from Chicago. She had seven pieces of luggage.

She declined to answer any questions about her divorce from Curtis B. Dall or the visit of her two children, "Slatie" and "Buzie," with their father in Chicago.

"After all," Mrs. Dall said, "those are things of such a personal nature that I don't care to talk about them."

Five hundred citizens were sworn in during the week as special police to help cope with the soldiers in event of trouble.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—An amazing wholesale extortion plot aimed at five prominent citizens and demanding $60,000 as the price of safety for themselves and their families was revealed today as federal and local officers launched a concerted drive to run down the gang which signed its letters "The Trio."

The threatened men include Orva Monette, prominent banker; E. L. Doherty, multimillionaire oil man; William Gettle, recent kidnapper; J. J. Doyle, sports promoter and Alexander Pantages, theater owner.

While pointing out the probability that the notes were the work of a crank, federal postal officials called in district attorney and sheriff office aides to join the search for the letter writers.

The governor's new ultimatum followed on the heels of a night raid on offices of the Citizens' Alliance, a secret membership group of business men which has backed the employers' advisory committee in fighting the union.

Ten picked guardsmen, acting under personal orders of the governor, seized documents and records of the Alliance and held the offices for four hours. Records were turned over to accountants for analysis.

Olson said that "evidence gained corroborates my charge the Citizens' Alliance clique dominates and controls actions of the employers' advisory committee; that it maintains stool pigeons in various labor unions and discloses that the so-called law and order league was conceived and directed by the same clique."

The Goodyear Rubber Company, maker of rubber boots, heels, and other products, is the company which filed answer at Washington yesterday to a suit under the NRA, and not the tire company, it was announced here today by W. The similarity in names has been causing some confusion in the minds of the public, Sebelie said.

BOARD OFFICIALLY ACTS ON ELECTION

Preparing for a city election on August 20, the city council held an adjourned meeting at noon today and gave first reading to an ordinance setting August 20 as the date of balloting on a bond issue of $250,000 with which to pay off delinquencies on the 1915 special street assessment bonds.

Next Friday, the council will give final passage to the ordinance, it was learned. Previous action taken Thursday set the date for the special initiative election on the repeal of the advertising and music tax ordinance on August 20, thus combining the elections and saving considerable expense.

City Attorney Clyde Downing is proposing the bond election as the best method of evading a tax levy of $1.40 to pay for the delinquent bonds.

GAMBLING CASE TO BE GIVEN JURORS TODAY

Closing arguments were given this afternoon and the case given to the jury at the trial of the 13 men arrested by sheriff's officers in Ballard's Ship Parlor, in Seal Beach, charged with violation of the gambling and lottery laws.

The case was prolonged considerably by the slow selection of a jury yesterday and the repeated objections of the defense counsel, Samuel Lackman and Z. B. West Jr.

The original panel of jurors was exhausted and a special venire of 10 used also. Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner is prosecuting the case.

Testimony this morning was given by Deputy Sheriff James Workman, R. E. Steinberger and James Muelek for the state and Harry Logan, one of the defendants, and J. Smith, owner of another chip game establishment, for the defense.

The defense contended that the chip game was for amusement only and therefore was not gambling, that the chips given were not of value, and that the chip game does not compare with roulette.

The officers described the game, and Workman said that an attendant had accompanied him to a near-by drug store to exchange his chips for cash.

Judge Fred Smith is presiding over the trial, which followed the case held Thursday for the four defendants arrested in Larry's Tango parlor, which ended in a hung jury, and will be retried.

Ask Recognition Of Lima Beans As Specialty Crop

Furthering attempts of the rural credits committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau to have lima beans recognized by the government farm loan agencies as a specialty crop, R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau, today described an interview he had with A. S. Goss, land bank commissioner of Washington, D. C.

Flaherty quoted as expressing interest in the proposal, but being of the opinion that lima beans could not be declared a specialty crop without a change in the government rural credits law. Goss, who expressed interest in the proposal, said that oranges are recognized as a specialty crop because of a provision in the rural credits act which permits this distinction with tree crops.

Goss said if the Farm Bureau would get a preliminary survey of the situation completed and report to him, he would get a definite ruling on the subject.

Inasmuch as lima beans are grown in other counties of the state, the committee, at the meeting yesterday afternoon decided to allow the California Farm Bureau Federation to handle the case for Orange county. R. J. McFadden, state delegate, was asked to present the case at the regional meeting in Laguna Beach August 15.

COURT GRANTS PROBATION TO 4 PRISONERS

Mrs. Belle G. Dunlop, 35, Garden Grove nurse, was granted probation for one year, on condition that she pay a fine of $100, for drunk driving, when she appeared yesterday before Superior Judge J. O. Moncur, of Plumas county, presiding in Judge James L. Allen's court.

Judge Moncur ordered the fine to be paid at the rate of $10 per month. He also ordered the defendant to refrain from drinking liquor during the probationary period.

Mrs. Dunlop was arrested in Garden Grove, July 12.

James Jerome, alias James Wallace, charged with attempted conspiracy to steal $135.50 from J. A. Murdy Jr. of Wintersburg, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for August 15.

Jerome is accused of attempting to swindle Murdy, a stockholder of the defunct Hollywood Dry corporation, by getting expense money in a move to unearth funds allegedly concealed by officials of the defunct company. Murdy claims Jerome told him he knew where the funds were concealed.

After Jerome had left him, Murdy became suspicious and stopped payment on the check he had given Jerome, he said.

E. B. Goss, charged with drunk driving on Grand avenue, Buena Park, today was placed on probation for one year, on condition that he serve six months in the county jail. His driving license was suspended for a year.

Probation for two years was granted to Wayne H. Langton, on condition that he serve six months in the county jail and make restitution for the $25 fraudulent check he passed at the Vandermast clothing store in Santa Ana.

George Leonard pleaded guilty to passing a fictitious check to R. T. McClain, of Anaheim. Leonard applied for probation and will receive a hearing August 10.

A. N. Smith was granted probation for three years, in connection with burglary of the Richard Nelson dwelling at Buena Park, June 30.

Merleweather Davis, of Santa Ana, convicted Thursday of two counts charging offenses against little girls, today applied for probation when he came before Judge H. G. Ames for judgment. Hearing was set for August 10.

Emil F. Sanchez, Santa Ana, convicted two weeks ago of failure to render aid after his car had struck a pedestrian, Ramirez Rodriguez, at Fifth and Fairview streets, Santa Ana, was denied probation by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, who sentenced him to six months in the county jail.

Admits Guilt On Hit, Run Charge; Given $60 Fine

Charged with failure to stop and render aid after an accident, John De La Torre pleaded guilty in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday, and was given a 90-day suspended jail sentence, with the provision that he pay $5 per month for one year, starting in September.

The defendant was arrested this week by Deputy Sheriff Frank Cagle, whose car was damaged in a hit-run wreck Saturday night at Fifth and Main streets. Cagle traced De La Torre through the license number.

HUNDREDS AT WORK IN SUGAR MILL FACTORY

More than 400 persons were working today in the Holly Sugar company plant south of Santa Ana as factory operations were well under way after about a week and a half of operations in the current sugar season.

Supplies of sugar beets are ample to assure continued operation of the plant during the season, which is expected to last about 100 days, according to W. E. Baker, manager. Sugar content of the beets this season is running about 19 per cent, a normal amount.

Payroll for those employed in the plant is running about $1500 a day, in addition to the payroll for about 1000 persons engaged in field work who are paid by private contractors and farmers.

About 10,000 acres of sugar beets for use in making sugar at the local mill is to be harvested this season. Harvesting operations started a few days before the plant opened. It is expected that more than 100,000 tons of beets will be harvested and refined this year, which is about a normal crop.

It is indicated that sugar beet growers will receive from $700,000 to $1,000,000 in returns this season, an increase over last year. Under provisions of the recently adopted Jones-Costigan bill by congress, growers will benefit from increased prices, it was said. Average prices last year to growers ranged near $5.50 per ton of beets, while this year it is anticipated that returns will be around $6.50.

Probation by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, who sentenced him to six months in the county jail.

OPEN OFFICE FOR EMERGENCY DROUGHT LOANS

Farmers and stockmen of Orange county who wish to apply for drought livestock feed loans will find the necessary application forms at the office of the SERA in the second floor of the Hill building, Santa Ana, it was announced today.

William V. Brady has been named by the Orange County SERA committee to take charge of the applications for purchase of feed, or seed for forage crops which are now available in counties which have been designated as "emergency" areas.

Loans will be administered by the emergency crop loan section of the Farm Credit Administration, and will be made to applications, who, because of drought, do not have the necessary feed to maintain their livestock, and must buy feed or produce a forage crop, and who have not the funds or available credit to obtain such food or undertake the production of a forage crop.

This amount loaned to purchase food for livestock will be limited to a maximum for each head of animals for production of forage crops will be limited to a maximum amount per acre. The minimum amount of a loan or advance is $25 for either purpose. Loans will be advanced in monthly installments. Promissory notes given by borrowers as security will mature November 1, 1935, with interest at five and a half per cent. WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett
HAPSBURG

Foreign affairs experts—political and military—talk peace but can see war in Europe. If the selection of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg as Chancellor of Austria means that he will attempt to seat Archduke Otto on the throne you can look for a rupture with the Little Entente.

The three nations that constitute this group have pledged one another to make war rather than permit a Hapsburg to set crown at Vienna. Czechoslovakia was under the Hapsburgs for centuries. Roumania was mutilated by them and her people hate them. Jugoslavia has burned into her heart the memory of the crushing of Serbia by the Hapsburgs.

Any one who has even enjoyed the confidence of President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia can testify that he will lead his country to war rather than permit a Hapsburg to wear a crown again. The declaration of independence of Czechoslovakia was written in Washington by Dr. Masaryk. It is a declaration of war against the Hapsburg dynasty, root and branch.

The Little Entente feels that it could have no peace or security with a Hapsburg ruling Austria. At present France supports the Little Entente in opposing the restoration of Archduke Otto.

Unquestionably the military plans of the Little Entente were affected by the rise to power of Dr. Schuschnigg, also by Italy's movements. Dispatch of Italian forces into Austria and the immediately following march of Little Entente troops might well start the avalanche.

French interests require the independence of Austria. Therefore the French Army chiefs will not permit Austria to be occupied by Italy alone.

SHREDS
A fairly comprehensive report on crop conditions will be completed on August 10. It will then be possible to obtain a better idea of the extent of drought damage.

The AAA forces are trying to reshape their lines after Dame Nature's deadly drive. Crop regulation is still on the cards, as it remains part of the New Deal system of laws. Secretary Wallace and his aids are now figuring out plans whereby they can continue AAA and the processing tax scheme while warding off the bitter assaults that are coming when Congress convenes.

Wallace thinks the whole system of farm benefits must be simplified. He would like to lump processing taxes and the various kinds of benefits handed to farmers so that a single check will represent Uncle Sam's dealings with each farmer.

Wallace holds that regulation of farm output is just as necessary as ever. He would provide more pasturage to guard against another drought but he would also hold down wheat acreage.

When farmers were induced to curtail wheat fields they went into other production and soon surpluses in vegetables, poultry and grains other than wheat were threatened. The drought wiped out this market and Wallace believes it will return to plague agriculture unless he is given authority over all that the farmer produces. Absolutely rigid supervision of all American farms from Washington is still the objective.

Some politicians sniff and say that AAA will be ripped to shreds.

BEANS

Frederic C. Howe still leads by a neck in the race toward Socialism among officials in the alphabet agencies. Howe is "consumers' counsel" of the AAA. He counsels consumers how to socialize. In one of his latest bursts he urges farmers and workers to organize cooperatives, banks and by mobilizing their own savings control the products of their labor "without asking aid from unfriendly agencies outside of themselves."

"We have at our hands agencies to build a nationwide cooperative movement," says Howe. "There are the county committees which have been organized in connection with production control of various farm commodities under the AAA program. They have had a year's training. Then there is the Farm Credit Administration, ready to grant credit."

Why not Socialism, when men trained for a year in controlling farm production are all organized and Uncle Sam stands ready to lend credit?

Howe's manifesto has raised questions which news men are putting to bigger New Dealers. Is Howe's plan for farmers' and workers' banks okayed by his superiors, or is he merely spilling a few Socialist beans of his own? No answer from above.

COMPETITION

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in the Department of Commerce is fretting over this one.

The men's furnishings field is humming with a Japanese development. An agent in New York market, it is his business to get samples of British patterns as soon as they come over. He rushes them to Tokyo, and now the Japs are spotting the market with these duplicates of English goods. The latest in "London" ties can be bought wholesale via Japan for a quarter. English patterned socks are only six cents a pair, wholesale. "English" shirts are made up to sell for 35 cents per shirt in quantity.

The combination of western designing, western machinery and oriental labor will snatch sleep from many.

NIPPON

Japanese big navy men are disgruntled at Okada's appointment as premier. It happens he is the only navy man in Japan. Okada is a member of the cabinet, a premier—who has moderate views and employs compromise tactics. They would have preferred a civilian whom they could flout or one of their own fire-eating brethren who could be expected to rattle his sword forebodingly at the coming naval conference.

Only a military head to the civilian government can check the Japanese navy, since it is a self-contained organization deriving its power directly from the Emperor and therefore not subject to civilian control. Therefore Okada was recommended as premier by both Saito and the Emperor's liberal advisers—in order that Japan might not be represented by an uncompromising die-hard at the coming international conference. If Okada should prove politically unsuccessful it may become timely to bring the highly liberal General Ugaki into power.

NOTES

The G. O. P. is printing Senator Glass' speech, "Remember Pay Day," and sending it out to both the spending agencies. . . . "Mass purchasing by farmers" is one of the new schemes concocted by the Farm Credit Administration. . . . British interests have bought heavily into National Distillers. . . . SEC members now deny that they had thought of asking Congress to censor shock exchange news. . . . The Civil Service Commission is fingerprinting applicants for investigation jobs under the Alcohol Board.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

New York rates this one both neat and snappy.

The Passamaquoddy Power Development in Maine (discussed here in October and November last) is about to be launched with a splash. Engineers who sponsored the idea have been working on Washington officialdom for almost a year. They have been stalled repeatedly but everything is now set to shoot. The President O. K'd the plans before he left on his vacation and an official announcement can be expected within two or three weeks.

Passamaquoddy will rank close to the Tennessee Valley as a government power project and an authority similar to TVA will probably be set up to administer it. It will be financed by FWA.

Financial insiders are especially intrigued by two angles. One is that it will be strictly a federal proposition. An alternative plan to have private capital handle it with government assistance was rejected on the ground that it would be "politically inexpedient" to use FWA money—even as a loan—for the project to be run for profit.

The second is the timing. Maine has an election in September and the state will have this great boon conferred upon it at the precise psychological moment. A New Yorker with Maine associations comments: They've decided that Yankee vote count as much as any other kind. It's a swell way to give us the works—politically as well as literally. Republicans are not discouraged. They're hoping the downcast vote will decide—since the luscious plum has already been dropped in their laps—that there's no further point in voting the Democratic ticket. Naturally the political slant will not be mentioned officially.

ALIBI

New York insiders string along with the recent prediction in our Washington column of a special Congressional session this fall. They look for drastic revision of the NRA setup to be one of the high spots. They anticipate its curtailment to a simple wage and hour arrangement with price fixing and other frills chucked in the ash can. Here again the political factor is behind the dope. New York scouts all over the country report that consumers are getting fed up with the Blue Eagle. It has been so delightfully easy for producers to use code costs as an alibi for unpopular prices. Frequently the blame was misplaced but the consumer had no way of knowing it. The NRA excuse has been used overtime to explain the steep jump in coal and oil prices—where consumer annoyance has been strongly in evidence. Financial men say it will be much harder to pass the buck if codes are simplified to a wage and hour basis. The social implications of codes are a pain in the neck to most New Yorkers.

RUSSIA

Russia appears to have learned a trick or two from capitalist countries. The informed understand that the Soviets would like very much to borrow enough American cash to pay the American debt she is willing to recognize and have enough left over to finance substantial purchases of American goods. New Yorkers comment that it's not a bad idea—from the Soviet point of view—if it works.

The hitch is that we are no longer keen about this formula for prosperity. It's reliability reported our unwillingness to grab the bait is one reason for the delay in negotiating a debt settlement. Final solution will probably be a price differential to be paid to Russian American creditors. That way Soviet authorities won't have so much trouble explaining to the home folks why they acknowledged a capitalist debt.

DIFFERENT

Plane builders are better pleased with the Air Commerce Bureau's new plan to spend $100,000 developing a light, inexpensive airplane than they were with the original flivver idea. That called for a kind of socialization of the industry's resources. But now it appears Director Vidal will lend cash support to experiments without taking a body and soul into the builders. That's a different breed of pups.

TRADER

The airlines wish Mr. Farley would amuse himself with balancing the Post Office budget and stop playing cat and mouse with them. Specifically they wish he would pay them for carrying the mail the last month before their contracts were canceled. It seems that can't be done if the contracts are canceled. But there's another angle.

If the lines sue as they can under the Air Mail Act it might be embarrassing. On the other hand they would probably wait a long time and get no more than is owed them for the month.

SIDELIGHTS

The stock market's blind staggers last week didn't seem to make sense but one broker says he knows the answer. . . . He claims it is liquidation of the Dillinger estate. . . . Carter Glass is Wall Street's current hero. . . . He said all the things the boys have been saying to say but didn't dare say. . . . Woodrow MacArthur talk of Air Corps increases it's not likely anything will be done now. . . . What's the point if the Howell commission comes along in February with an ultimate plan for Army as well as other aviation?

FOREIGN SPECIAL EXTRA

Austria

Five weeks ago today this column reported that arms were being smuggled into Austria from Germany and that the increase in Nazi terrorism was a barrage preceding an outbreak against Dollfuss. When 20 Nazi youths beat and shot the Austrian chancellor, leaving him to bleed to death for three hours without medical or priestly attendance, the storm burst whose repercussions no man can foretell.

For several days preceding the outbreak an indefinable restlessness had been growing among the people of Vienna. The government had lost ground even among the non-political elements of the population, which were beginning to feel the increasing weight of financial difficulties. Of the politically minded group, 40 per cent could fairly be classified as Nazis, 30 per cent Reds and 30 per cent government supporters.

Very few Nazis had dropped their allegiance out of disappointment over the Hitler fiasco in Germany—and those few were mostly Reds who returned to their own underground organizations.

Vienna has been much excited by its first murder done in movie gangster style. "The Nazi gangster murder" the press calls it. A secret Nazi chief, pressed for funds and inspired by the government's attractive reward offered gave information on the location of various bomb and ammunition depots. The police agent to whom he gave the information, however, was also a secret Nazi, of a different clan, and though forced to pass the information up to his superiors, he immediately tipped off the Party. A "killing squad" sent to the traitor's apartment shot him as he opened the door. To the "gangsters" there isn't a clue except that they were 18 and 19-year-old boys, obviously picked so that they would fall under the minors' law if caught.

Great Britain

German propaganda has been annoying the British administrators of Southwest Africa for a considerable time. When the officials caught on that the activities of a certain German army captain (formerly of the German Southwest Africa garrison) went beyond the organization of a Boy Scout movement, they investigated and found evidence of an extensive Nazi political and military organization, arms and propaganda material in large quantities were located and a ramified espionage system uncovered. The Boy Scout movement has been dissolved and all Nazi activities forbidden, but the chances are, if trouble should come some day, that the British government would find itself up against a well-drilled and armed force of "settlers."

Although these discoveries were not given much publicity, for fear of diplomatic repercussions, the British public reacted sharply, and one more grudge is added to the many. Even the most conservative and fair-minded elements feel an increasing antipathy toward Germany and German methods. Hitler's speech before the Reichstag, and particularly his statement that he felt himself "the Supreme Court of Germany," has brought sentiment to a boiling point. British observers, always very careful in their statements, begin to regard German policy as the product of a demented mind. The foreign policy debate in the House of Commons, which gave England's sanction to Dardou's plans, showed how completely British opinion has swung over within the last month to the viewpoint that Europe must be guarded against the outbreaks of an irresponsible government.

Word comes from Admiralty in London that the naval talks, which have been postponed supposedly to await the arrival of Japanese technical experts, have recently been put off to withdraw the preliminary negotiations from the gunfire of press comments. Barthou hopes to persuade Mussolini not to build the two disturbing $5,000-ton dreadnoughts and the Presbytery Office is feverishly trying to work out a basis for a Japanese dicker.

Russia

Moscow revolutionary circles point with great pride to their part in the American labor troubles and the success of subversive propaganda carried out by the U. S. A. branding of the Communist Party as the main force in the office of the International has been in direct contact with the Pacific coast agitators and that the arms and money supplied for the violent action of the strikers were cashed by Soviet agents in the U. S. A. for such an eventuality. Plans are being made to reinforce the propaganda and communications system, which has functioned so well with Americans who have been working in Russia. They are to tell the boys how rosy conditions are in the U. S. S. R. and how easy it would be to follow this example.

The hopes raised for the moderation and civilization of Soviet legal procedure by the announced reform of OGPU have been pretty well dashed by recent events. The absolutistic life and death power of the former Cheka have theoretically been abolished and handed over to the regular courts, while the organization itself has been reorganized into the Commissariat of the Interior. The press announced it as a great boon to the citizen, and gave the passing OGPU a big hand—the naked sword of the "new order" which tens of millions of workers and peasants learned to love. It turns out, however, that the right of exile to Siberia without trial still remains in the hands of the leaders of OGPU who direct the new Commissariat. It is equivalent to death.

There is much disappointment here over growing symptoms of a reaction away from the modernization and conservatism that began to manifest themselves a few months ago. The increasingly chaotic condition of Europe and the troubles in the U. S. A. have given the world revolutionists so much convincing material to work on that the moderating elements seem to have been brought to a full stop. Although Franco-Russian relations continue to be very cordial, and Russia has become one of the main stones in Barthou's wall around Germany, British and French diplomats realize that the Soviet government cannot be counted upon in the event of a crisis.

Japan

From Tokyo come disturbing reports on the progress of the Japanese invasion of South America. Not only has the increasing emigration—particularly to Brazil and the Argentine—begun to alarm the natives, but the control of important industries is fast falling into the hands of the Japanese settlers. In Sao Paulo 50 per cent of the potato and cotton growing and 60 per cent of the raw silk production is Japanese, while the volume of Japanese grown bananas has increased within the last year from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bunches (of about 200 bananas each). In the interior the Portuguese, Italian and German traders are being completely supplanted by an incredible dumping of fair grade Japanese goods. But the worst is that South American interests are planning a press campaign to warn the U. S. A. of the disappearance of a lucrative market and to stir up the natives themselves to political resistance. Tokyo scouts danger and will level off immigration and trade activity until the excitement has calmed down.

The British Foreign Office is informed that all is not well in the Japanese government. The so-called Cabinet Council, consisting of the Premier and the Ministers of Marine, War, Finance and Foreign Affairs, was called recently ostensibly to consolidate Japanese policy. As a matter of fact a split threatened and a series of heated debates between navy and treasury broke out about a critical situation. The services demand 650,000,000 and 500,000,000 yen for army and navy, respectively—which the Finance Minister sees as ruinous. Naval leaders have further made a formal demand that "naval claims on the treasury for the provision of adequate defense be approved"—involving an indefinite sum. That's for the contingency of an armistice race, which the treasury has branded as absolutely criminal. Observers say that increased expenditure is out of the question and that the principal weapon at the Naval Conference will be bluff. Copyright, 1934, McClure Newspaper

NO. 6—TOOTH TOPICS—BY DR. CLARK

IRREGULAR and IMPACTED TEETH

The irregularities of the permanent teeth are caused by too early extraction or too long a retention of the temporary or baby teeth; bad baby habits, such as thumb-sucking; mouth-breathing resulting from adenoids or constricted nasal passages; often the condition is hereditary and we find the same forms of irregularity in different members of the same family.

The correction of irregularities is a specialty of dentistry and the child who suffers from this form of malformation should be taken to an Orthodontist as early as possible so that the necessary correction can be made before the bone tissue becomes hard and dense.

Impactions or unerupted teeth are usually the third molars or wisdom teeth; cusps or eye teeth sometimes fail to put in their appearance.

This affliction may be the cause of numerous troubles, neuralgia, headaches, ear and eye disturbances, and in fact, even insanity has been traced to impacted third molars, and a complete recovery made on their removal.

A good X-Ray of the area is an absolute necessity in the diagnosis and surgical removal of these troublesome teeth.

By HARRY GRAYSON

Although he was still suffering from the stomach ailment contracted before his triumphant parade in the United States Open in early June, Olin Dutra journeyed from Chicago to Buffalo to appear in the Professional Golfers' Association championship tourney.

Dutra did this after being forced to cancel a series of exhibitions with Walter Hagen, and spending some time in a hospital. Friends are alarmed about Dutra's health. The Portuguese Popular continues to lose weight after all these weeks.

Dutra was so ill that he was unable to qualify for the P. G. A., but it was the pros' own show, and he desired to give it the added prestige of having the Open titleholder as a competitor.

Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, rejected exhibition offers in Europe, and with Denny Shute, hurried back from St. Andrews to be among those present.

Professional golfers are nearer a status than money players in any other line of sport. Prizes are negligible, and, like most teachers, the general run of them are poorly paid.

GOOD PLAY OR NO PLAY

Paul Runyan, for example, had only $7000 to show after his all-conquering tour of last winter, during which he captured no fewer than eight tournaments in a game requiring as much or more skill than any other, and one that takes more out of an athlete than some sports involving physical contact.

After acquiring the Metropolitan Open and P. G. A., the brilliant Runyan's winnings totaled only $8500, and $1000 of that sum came in the way of a bonus from a sporting goods house.

Less than $1000 apiece for ten major victories, each involving days of painstaking and pulse-quickenng stroking against fields so fast that one could not afford to make a mistake—where a single good or bad shot spelled the difference between the headlines and also ran agate type. With each rival a keyed-up sharpshooter, each club had to be kept in that old groove all the while.

Professional golf is the lone sport in which a participant must win to be paid. A poor performance here means nothing more than want transportation, and frequently not even that.

NEW FIELD FORMIDABLE

But, after all, the golf professionals have the best game of all, and are not complaining. There is a fine spirit of comradeship among them, and they have elevated their profession to undreamed-of heights. There is a splendid new group up from the caddy ranks, too—the most formidable since the one headed by Gene Sarazen following the war.

Quite naturally, this one is topped by the 26-year-old Runyan, the little man with the big spoon, and includes Ky Laffoon, handicapped before his triumph at Denver; Dick Metz, of Lake Forest, Ill.; Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N. Y.; Johnny Revolta, of Milwaukee; Victor Chezzi, of Deal, N. J.; Willie Goggin, of Salada Beach, Calif.; Gene Kunes, of Jeffersonville, Pa.; and Bob Crowley, of Dedham, Mass.

Keep your weather eye peeled for these young fellows—all home bred. It is from among them that the new legends and Sarazens will come. Indeed, Runyan already has taken rank with the greats, and the others—Laffoon, Metz, Barron, Revolta and Chezzi, in particular—are only a mashie shot behind.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Barnyard golf is coming back stronger than ever. . . . It is estimated that more than a million persons have joined organized horseshoe pitching clubs in this country. . . . Half an hour before Dorothy Poynton Hill climbed the ladder for her first dive in the National Women's A. A. U. swimming meet in Detroit, she had to have a physician freeze the first and second fingers of her right hand to stop pain suffered after she had crushed the digits the night before. . . . Several of the Chicago Cubs who are making the team go places were on the auction block last winter, notably Pat Malone, Woody English and Babe Herman, while big Jim Weaver, who has been doing some fancy hurling, wasn't with the outfit. . . . Gene Sarazen is a farmer of the gentleman type. . . . The golf star operates quite a layout at Brookfield Center, Conn. . . . Gene Tunney is only two pounds above the weight at which he defended the heavyweight title. . . . Jim Browning's brother didn't go in for wrestling. . . . he is a pitcher with the Reading club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Westminster's Aviators today scored into undisputed possession of first place in the National Night Ball league, definitely established as the team to beat for the second-half championship.

The hard-hitting Flyers passed Torrance last night by the simple but effective expedient of defeating last year's titleholders. The score was 11-2. Westminster hammering Roy Hargis out of the box in five innings and continuing the bombardment against pitcher Pusch, Torrance's new acquisition.

After scoring single runs in the first, second and third, the Aviators got to Hargis for five more in the fifth on singles by Daley and Smith, doubles by Nelson and Urbine, and a home run by Ray Hapes with one aboard. Hargis retired after this rally.

Out in front by a full game, Westminster now appears ready to live up to pre-season ratings when it was established as co-favorite with Huntington Beach.

With its slump behind, Westminster goes into the next six games Olive, Fullerton, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and Long Beach—with everything in its favor.

The Aviators added Joe Cornelius, former Santa Ana pitcher, to their roster last night. He played right field and collected one hit, a double.

Huntington Beach all but eliminated Anaheim from the second-half by trouncing the Valencians, 3-1, at Anaheim. "Chico" Sabella outpitched "String" McDonnell and got better support.

Anaheim scored first, Comstock driving a triple to right in the third inning and tallying on Wallin's single. Huntington Beach tied it in the fourth. McKinley singled. He went to second on Schuchardt's error to third on Comstock's error on Thiers's grounder, home on Murray's hit.

Schuchardt's home run over Moody in left field put Huntington Beach ahead in the sixth, and the Oilers added another for good measure in the same round when Thiers, Murray and Lower bunched singles.

Setting a new National League record, Earl Morrill, veteran Fullerton pitcher, shutout Long Beach for the fourth time in succession at Fullerton last night, completing 36 innings of consecutive scoreless ball against the tall-enters.

Morrill had to work hard for his victory, however, as Deene Downer was in top form himself. The only run of the contest was made by Fullerton. In the fourth when Tom Hoban, who had forced Thomas at second on a fielder's choice, scored from first on Harper's double to left which Outfielder Sackett fumbled.

Fullerton's victory kept the Bellhops in the running for the second-half flag.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Bob O'Farrell, recently dismissed as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was expected to join the Chicago Cubs today as second-string catcher. O'Farrell has been offered a contract and is expected to accept.

Vaulter Thompson Joins Yank Squad

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Wirt Thompson, Yale vaulter, will substitute for Bill Graber of Southern California on the American track and field squad touring the Orient this summer. The squad will leave San Francisco August 16.

'Yes Sir, She's My Baby'

THOMPSON AND OTHER PROS IN TOURNEY HERE

Jimmy Thompson, the longest driver in golf, will head a delegation of visiting golf players to the Santa Ana Country club course Sunday afternoon for a pro-amateur tournament, beginning at 1 o'clock. The public is invited.

Among the professionals expected to enter, paired up with leading amateurs from various Southern California clubs out of the Los Angeles area, are Thompson of Lakewood, Larry Gleason of Virginia, Dallas Jeffers of Long Beach municipal, Clark Spiers of Meadowlark, Joe Hunter of Santa Ana, Vic Owen of Willowick and "Chuck" Denio of Santa Ana.

Amateur starters include Don Kennedy and Elmer Curry, Santa Ana juvenile stars who have been giving par a tough time this summer.

Why? Because when Tilden was on the court playing she could sit down and rest her feet.

"There never was nobody like Mister Tilden," Lil said as she mixed up a lemon squash during the Davis Cup tie between England and America. "When Mister Tilden was playing you never would find people down here drinking and talking. They'd all be out there looking at Mister Tilden do what ever he did, so I could slip my shoes off and rest my feet. You know, standing up like this all day wears your feet out.

"When anybody but Mister Tilden was playing there'd always be customers in here, and I couldn't get any rest. Sometimes, though, Mister Tilden would win so quick I'd no more'n get my shoes off before he'd be through. That always made me sorta mad at him."

We asked Lil if she liked tennis. "No, it looks like a silly game to me. I'm always glad when its over and I can get out to the race tracks. I go all over—Epsom, Ascot, Goodwood, Newmarket and Aintree. You musta seen me at the Derby. I got a fine place at Tattersalls. Did you back Colombo?"

We said yes, that unfortunately we had.

"Well, don't get off him. He's the best. I'm going to put all I can spare on him in the St. Leger. He's a won the Derby if his jockey had known anything. I don't like those Australian jockeys, do you?"

We said no, that sticky rice and Australian jockeys were the two things we couldn't stand.

Lil laughed and poured herself a snifter.

Spartans To Sponsor Grid Squad Again

Football broke into Santa Ana's sport news for the first time in months today when Attorney Loren Smith, manager of the independents, announced that the Spartan Athletic club would sponsor a team again this fall. Practice, he said, would start August 15.

The Spartans will play a complete schedule of night football at the Municipal Bowl, meeting several college teams in addition to the Long Beach Ramblers, the West Coast Eagles, the San Diego Submarine Base, the Santa Barbara Athletic club, Huntington Park Lions and other independent eleven.

Smith requests last year's players and any others interested to report to him at his office, Room 207, Builders Exchange building.

PARKER ROUTS MIDGET GRANT IN THREE SETS

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Frankie Parker, smooth stroking tennis marvel from Spring Lake, N. J., swept through Bryan ("Bitty") Grant of Atlanta, Ga., today in straight sets to capture the annual Meadow club invitational tennis title.

The 18-year-old former Milwaukee Lad, who won his way to eighth position in National rankings last year but slipped far below that form in earlier matches this year, appeared once more to have scaled tennis heights as he crushed the "mighty mite" from Georgia.

Grant, standing five-feet-two and weighing only 125, was no match for the polished hitting of the boy from the middle-west, now making his home in New Jersey. Grant made his greatest stand in the second set, where he forced Parker to the sixteenth game before succumbing.

The pace was killing, however. Parker was seldom off his game, raking the court with blistering shots that forced the Georgia midget to race from line to line.

Parker never gave Grant a chance to unfold his usual tactics of playing slowly from the baseline and forcing his foe to play Grant's own game. Instead, Parker tore into the attack at every opportunity, blasting Grant off the court in the last set.

The win for Parker is expected to mark the beginning of a drive which may carry him to the top of the National list. He starts play at Longwood Monday, and will continue through the Newport Casino the following week.

JACK CRIES AT FIRST VIEW OF 7-POUND BABY

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP) Jack Dempsey, the Manassas Mauler, whose "killer instinct" was a prize ring tradition, wept for joy today at the sight of his new-born daughter.

The infant was born to his wife, the former Hannah Williams, stage star. After a night of fretful waiting, a morning of ecstatic jubilation, Dempsey tip-toed into a room at Poly-clinic hospital for his first peek at his child.

When he came out his eyes were red, filled with tears. "She's beautiful," he said softly, "beautiful. A little angel sent down from heaven."

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—A nurse slipped from a room at Polyclinic hospital today and whispered something to Jack Dempsey.

"It's a girl!" exclaimed the former heavyweight champion with a smile of relief. "Seven and three-quarters pounds and oh boy!"

He mopped his perspiring brow—"am I glad it's over?"

Dempsey brought his wife, the former Hannah Williams, singer, to the hospital last night. During the early morning hours he nervously paced the corridor, apparently taking more punishment than he did in his celebrated bouts with Gene Tunney.

"I sure hope it's a boy," he said at one time. "I want to match him with Tunney's kid."

A few moments later the nurse hurried out.

"Disappointed?" she asked. "Not a bit, not a bit," said Dempsey. "I love little girls."

Assured Mrs. Dempsey was comfortable, Jack skipped downstairs, informed passersby that "it's a girl," and drove to his hotel. He burst into the lobby with the same happy count and was deluged by the congratulations of friends.

"What name?" he was asked. "That's up to Hannah," he said.

"I think she wants to call it Johanna. No, I don't know how to spell it. But I'm insisting on Hannah for the middle name."

"Disappointed?" came the recurring question.

"I am not," Dempsey said emphatically. "But maybe we'll have a son later."

Mrs. Dempsey was attended by Dr. Everett Hawks, who attended Mrs. Anne Lindbergh and Mrs. Polly Lauder Tunney.

Dempsey said he had no plans for the immediate future.

"I guess we'll stay around here and rest up for a couple of months," he said. "Maybe I'll do a little refereeing and then we'll go west."

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Carl Hubbell, head man of the New York pitching personnel, yesterday tossed off his twenty-second successive inning without being scored on, and recorded his second successive shutout against the Phillies, 2-0. Since July 29, he has not allowed a run and has given only 13 hits, while winning twice and assisting in a third Giant victory.

Hubbell had lost three in a row before he held the Phils scoreless a week ago. He gave them four hits that day and six yesterday. Vergez' homer won the game yesterday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Declaring he is here for "a great race"—win or lose—T. O. M. Sopwith, successor to Sir Thomas Lipton in Britain's 82-year-old quest of the America's Cup, the world's most valued yachting trophy, today awaited his challenger, Endeavor, due in New York next week-end.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Twelve young athletes from Arizona and California, whose ages range from 12 to 15 years, began competition today against youthful athletes of Mexico in the two-day international junior pentathlon.

Miller's Victory Over Paul Doubled

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Freddie Miller, 128, Cincinnati, recognized by the N. B. A. as featherweight boxing champion, today held an unpopular referee's decision over Tommy Paul of Buffalo, N. Y., 128, former titlist.

It was a non-title, 10-round bout, fought here last night. The United Press score sheet showed each winning four rounds, with two even.

SPORTS BULLETINS

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Alvin Crowder, Washington hurler, is coming to Detroit to join the Detroit Tigers "within the next day or two," Frank Navin, owner of the club, announced today.

Navin said that no club below the standing of Detroit had bid for Crowder, and that the Tiger team had thus claimed him. According to Navin, teams in the lower bracket automatically waived rights to Crowder.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Arthur Armstrong of Hawaii and Dave Mitchell of Indianapolis were all even at the end of their morning round of 18 holes in the finals of the National public links golf championship.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Tommy Armour of Medina, Ill., who held a three-stroke lead as the qualifiers in the Canadian Open began the final 36 holes of medal play, shot a 71, one over par, on the first round today to give him a 54-hole total of 213.

Armour, who has won the championship twice, was out in 36, even over par, and back in 35, even par.

SIOUX CITY GHOSTS TO PLAY AT ORANGE

The Sioux City Ghosts, a team of barnstorming colored night ball players, play the Orange 29-30 club at Orange tonight.

Although the Ghosts haven't fared well since their arrival in Southern California, they claim 54 victories out of 65 games on their way to the coast. They lost at Huntington Beach, 9-1, early this week. Howard Morning and Charley Zaby pitched for the Oilers.

Southern Teams Plan Few Tilts With Outsiders

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Outside of November 10 being a big day for intersectional battles, the Southeastern conference teams will not wander beyond southern borders much this coming football season.

Three of the strongest and most colorful teams of the conference will display their prowess in the East on November 19 at New York City. Washington and New Haven, Conn.

Tulane is to play its return engagement with Colgate at the Polo Grounds on that day. Louisiana State, expected to have a strong backfield, is to meet George Washington. The New Haven Bulldogs are to go to New Haven to engage, perhaps for the last time, Yale. Georgia is anxious to make it a grand slam of five victories in the last five contests between the two schools, with Yale scheduled to drop Georgia from its future football programs.

There is only a scattering of intersectional games scheduled except for November 19. Alabama, which played Fordham last season, does not go outside the South to play this year. Tennessee has replaced Alabama on the Rams' schedule. The game being scheduled for November 3 at New York.

The only intersectional clash between a Big Ten and a Southeastern conference eleven comes October 20 when Georgia Tech travels to Ann Arbor to meet Michigan.

Louisiana meets Rice, SMU and Arkansas in the Southwestern conference, as well as George Washington, and then winds up its season with Oregon at Baton Rouge December 15.

Two intersectional games are with the University of Cincinnati. Vanderbilt travels up there October 13, and Kentucky goes there a week later.

HAMAS, LASKY SIGN FOR SEPT. 27 BOUT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—First of the heavyweight elimination bouts to determine a contender for Max Baer among the American group, will be staged September 27 at Madison Square Garden's Long Island bowl, Steve Hamas, Passaic, N. J., and Art Lasky of Los Angeles.

Hamas, signed yesterday, and agreed to fight under Garden auspices for the rest of this year.

Meanwhile Jimmy Bronson, manager of Walter Neusel, German contender who meets Max Schmeling at Hamburg, Germany, August 26, departed for Paris to join Neusel at his training camp.

If Neusel wins, Bronson will try to match him against Baer, or falling that, against the winner of the Hamas-Lasky fight.

DRILLING WORK CONTINUES ON 2 WELLS AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Aug. 4.—The Pratt Collins Development company, its No. 1 well at the intersection of Santa Isabel street and Tustin avenue, is at present making hole near the 2000-foot level. It was learned from the log of the well. It is reported that the drill has passed through several strata of what is believed to be high grade oil sand. Following delays because of too light equipment for a hole of that depth, heavier machinery has been installed and the drill is now being kept running for 24 hours each day. The crew is living on property adjacent to the lease.

Operations have been resumed on the Harding No. 1 on the Banning lease in North Costa Mesa. The drilling crews are rearing in preparation for running the surface pipe, following which the hole will be cleaned to charge, and a liner will be set in preparation for a production test. The hole is finished to near the 1000-foot level, and it is believed that enough high quality oil sand has been penetrated to make a commercial producer. The Spick Oil company, which has a hole drilled to the 1050 level on the Derby ranch immediately across the line from Harding No. 1, is standing idle awaiting developments at the Harding well.

Mechanical difficulties in the old Nuell well on the Banning lease in South Costa Mesa is causing considerable delay in bringing the well to a production test. It was stated by those in charge. The well has been completed to the 6000-foot level, but in reaming and cleaning the hole in preparation for giving it a production test, some of the drilling tools were lost in the hole and at present the crews are fishing for the lost equipment.

NEW GAS STATIONS SLATED FOR BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 4.—Two new gasoline service stations are planned for this city. Miss Lois B. Avery, member of the high school faculty at Ontario, and prominent property owner in Huntington Beach, is having a service station erected at Fifth and Walnut avenues. It is to be a modern de luxe station and will be under lease to the Union Oil company.

The Associated Oil company has taken a 10-year lease on the Eugene Sarabere home place at the corner of Ocean and Fifth and will erect a modern service station there to be operated under lease by Andy Teague, pioneer gasoline and oil service station operator of the city and now operating the Associated Triangle station at the corner of Fifth and Main.

WELL STARTED AT H. B. OVER YEAR AGO NOW ON PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 4.—The McVicker-Rood organization, which put the Huntington Beach oil field back on the map after it was supposed to be a "has been," scored another triumph this week in bringing in the Messenger well, also known as the Giek well, on Eighteenth street between Ocean and Walnut, for a 273-barrel gusher, flowing 26 gravity oil, and about 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

This well was the stumbling block of several practical operators and a number of drill crews and defied all efforts to bring it in as a producer. For eight or ten weeks H. H. McVicker with picked drill crews tried to put a six-inch hole with its end a mile away underground into an oil pool somewhere under the Pacific, without tapping into another well finished somewhere near where they had to finish the Messenger well.

After spending more than $40,000 and more than two months' time, the operators brought the Messenger well in. It was started more than a year ago, and at least half a dozen outfits have given up in despair on the job. It was to protect their own big wells in that vicinity and other big wells that McVicker-Rood decided to take on the wrestling match with the Messenger well.

The state has announced there will be no more permits granted for drilling into the ocean pool. The total wells out there from town lots now number 82. All are on production.

WILKIE TELLS MAJOR PLANKS IN BEACH TALK

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—Making the first home town speech of his vigorous campaign for the office of sheriff of Orange county, Capt. Don Wilkie last night at the Laguna Beach American Legion hall swung into a clear explanation as to the major planks of his unique platform and pledged himself to the intelligence of the people and keep politics out of the sheriff's office, if elected to that office.

"The time has come when the sound thinking voters and taxpayers of Orange county, and every other county, are awake to the folly of electing inefficient politicians to important public offices that spend thousands of dollars of public tax money," Captain Wilkie declared. "People, with the exception of a few who still cling to long-haired and lusty bellowing political bosses, are out to vote for efficiency and the man who is best fitted for the office to be filled. You would not elect as your sheriff a butcher, a baker or a candlestick maker."

"I bring you 30 years of intimate contact and a close study of crime and crime detection in many parts of the world. I was for 20 years trained in the methods of Uncle Sam. I served in the United States Secret Service for years. I represented the government in delicate missions abroad. I had occasion to participate as an agent of the United States, in the solution of major crimes in England and France and my war record, when I was at the United States army and navy, the most hazardous branch of war time service, is something of which I feel justly proud."

In pointing to new plans which he declared he would put into effect immediately if elected, Captain Wilkie referred to a carefully prepared map of Orange county, arranged into a typical man-of-war map, showing his plan of protecting Orange county as a great treasure vault by the establishment of sheriff's substations located at strategic points and placing of sheriff's radio patrol cars so as to be able to block every artery into or out of the county within 10 minutes. The plan would be the most effective in the United States, the speaker declared, and could be established without additional cost to the taxpayers.

Directing his remarks to the ex-service men, Captain Wilkie called for co-operation in battling the criminal element in the county. "We are always at war with crime," he said, "and when we are at war we must employ war tactics. The ex-service men know what that means, and if I am elected to serve you as sheriff, I want to be assured of the wholehearted co-operation of the Legion and all other service organizations. I plan to have organized in the county an auxiliary committee composed of men and women of the highest type who will meet with me at regular intervals in friendly and helpful advisory sessions. It is my firm determination to be a sheriff of the people and not a political axe to grind. The politicians and the political machines are naturally bitterly opposed to me. I am not a politician. I know nothing about politics and I don't care to learn. I have never before held or sought public office, and if I am elected to lead your law-enforcement branch, I will enter upon the job as a free man who can and will plunge into the work without fear of treading on somebody's toes. There are no fences around my campaign," the speaker declared. "I will bring you a record of 30 years in law-enforcement service, but I can't offer you one day in politics."

In further explanation of his platform Captain Wilkie promised to keep the public fully informed on activities of the sheriff's office.

Captain Wilkie was introduced by Dr. Vincent P. Carroll, prominent Laguna Beach physician and recently retired president of the Laguna Rotary club. Others who made brief speeches in support of Captain Wilkie's nomination were Dr. Spencer Miller, well known retired engineer and civic worker; Miss Elba Johnson, Laguna educator, and Chris Valente, local business man.

A welcome interruption (for Sandra) was provided by the removal of the soup plates. The new servant, as Mr. Lawrence's conversation had forecast, was disappointing. Her cap was habitually askew and she seemed uncommonly nervous. Sandra, waiting to present the question of the western trip, almost despaired. She knew her parent well.

"What you need—what both of us need," she interposed, skillfully, "is a vacation. This has been a miserable summer. Hot and dry. Why don't you go up to Pine Lake on a fishing trip? It would do you good and Della could get another maid and train her while we were away."

"We?" The keen blue eyes under the bushy white eyebrows stared at her. "You wouldn't care for Pine Lake?"

"No," Sandra admitted the truth of that. "But I'd thought of—that is I have an invitation from the Cardigans to go out to Wyoming."

HOLY FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CRASH VICTIMS

LA HABRA, Aug. 4.—Double funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon for George W. Beer and H. G. Corbett, of La Habra, who were instantly killed in an automobile accident near Bakersfield last Tuesday. The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman of the Fullerton Methodist church officiated at the services which were held at the La Habra Methodist church. Mrs. Myrtle Armstrong, sang "Garden of Prayer."

Interment for the two brothers-in-law was made at Loma Vista cemetery and the Odd Fellows lodge of Brea, of which both men were members, was in charge of services at the graves. The Rebekah lodge members of Brea attended in a body.

The two men were killed when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a Santa Fe train.

Mr. Beer is survived by his son, L. Pearl Beer, of Fruitvale, Calif., and by several sisters and brothers-in-law in La Habra. He also leaves three brothers, John Beer, of Whittier, and two brothers in the east.

Mr. Corbett is survived by his wife and four daughters and three sons, all of Bakersfield.

Both men came to California many years ago from Pennsylvania, and resided in La Habra until recently when they went to Bakersfield and were employed by a drilling company there after several years with the Standard Oil company here.

Assisting Mrs. Hulbert were Mrs. Sara Gallaher, Mrs. John D. Lewis, Miss Effie Johnston, Mrs. Mabel Swigart, Mrs. Alex Gajek, Mrs. Lillian Thomas and Miss Jennie Lane.

"DRAWING NEARER" TOPIC

PLACENTIA, Aug. 4.—The topics of sermons to be preached by the Rev. Don Millikan Sunday at Calvary church, Placentia, are "Drawing Nearer," at the morning hour, and "Parleying with the Devil," at the evening hour.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monnie O'Dare is secretly engaged to Dan Cardigan whose parents want him to marry Sandra Lawrence. Sandra, a stranger in town, admires Monnie as well as her younger sister, Kay. Bill, her older brother, plans to marry Angela Gilman, whose divorce is pending, much to Mrs. O'Dare's dismay.

Sandra who pretends to be Monnie's friend, is planning to win Dan away from her. Dan's mother and sister plan a trip to Wyoming. Sandra and several other young people are to accompany them. Dan does not want to go but feels obliged to.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII

Sandra's father grumbled. "The place is darned uncomfortable. Della's on the warpath—stopped me to say the new maid won't do and she'll leave if we don't get someone better. I wish I could observe testily, gazing across the table at his daughter, that you hadn't rowed with what's-her-name—Hetty. It's extremely disagreeable to have things going on like this."

"I didn't row with her—as you put it, Daddy," explained Sandra. Candelight brooded over the bit of luxurious room. "She was insolent to me. I think I explained before."

"Yes, but why did James have to dash off the same day, that's what I want to know," pursued Gregory Lawrence, unappeased. "He was a fine boy and I'd had him for years—ever since Higby died. You know I hate to drive myself and it's a job getting anything properly trained on short notice. Most upsetting."

A welcome interruption (for Sandra) was provided by the removal of the soup plates. The new servant, as Mr. Lawrence's conversation had forecast, was disappointing. Her cap was habitually askew and she seemed uncommonly nervous. Sandra, waiting to present the question of the western trip, almost despaired. She knew her parent well.

Spanish Village Auxiliary Holds Party at Church

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 4.—A delightful garden party was held on the lawn of St. Clement's Episcopal church Thursday afternoon, sponsored by the Women's auxiliary of the church.

Bright beach umbrellas sheltered the tables and chairs placed in groups over the lawn and with large baskets of zinnias added an attractive note of decoration. Cake, coffee and ice cream were served by young girls of the church. A sale of baked goods was held on the porch and another of useful articles of needlework was conducted within Guild hall.

Surplus cakes from the tea were sold at auction by Miss Effie Johnston, auxiliary treasurer, and Judge Fred S. Warner. The party was planned and carried out under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Hulbert president of the auxiliary.

Many San Clemente people were patrons and among several out of town guests were Mrs. M. B. Heyman, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Wayland H. Kelsey, of Pasadena; Miss Bertha Osborne, of Alhambra, and Mrs. Bob Mabry, of Seattle.

Assisting Mrs. Hulbert were Mrs. Sara Gallaher, Mrs. John D. Lewis, Miss Effie Johnston, Mrs. Mabel Swigart, Mrs. Alex Gajek, Mrs. Lillian Thomas and Miss Jennie Lane.

LAGUNA BEACH FARCE COMEDY PLEASURES CROWD

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—"The Whole Town's Talking," was the title of a clever farce comedy presented Friday night by the Laguna Beach Community players at the Community playhouse on Ocean avenue, and today the whole town was talking of the clever performance of the individual players.

The play was written by John Emerson and Anita Loos, and the local production was directed by Gene Oatman, well-known player and director connected with the Community players. The play will be repeated tonight and next Saturday, August 11.

Because of unforeseen difficulties in assembling the cast, it was necessary at the last moment for Director Oatman to step in and play the part of "Henry Simmons," one of the principal roles, in which assignment he proved himself equally good as an actor as that of directing the production. Jack Deane, with years of professional experience, as "Chester Binney," handled the part to perfection.

Miss Polly Wuthenow, formerly connected with the Pasadena Community players, lived up to her reputation as a talented player and gave an entertaining performance as a temperamental screen actress. Others of the cast who contributed to the success of the amusing comedy were Priscilla Fraser, Barbara Paige, McCauley Ropp, Ann Wigston, Burton Stancliffe, Betty Ritchie, Margo Songster, Haring Griggs and Ramona Harris, in their respective roles.

Others who lent their services to the production are Claire McCullough, stage manager and properties; Volney Tanner, electrician, and Helen Monahan, in charge of the wardrobe. The sets were constructed by Frank Goddard and Len Hardie, and decorations by Tom Pillsbury.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

James Shore's Daughter, by Stephen Vincent Benet, published by Doubleday, Doran & Co.

"James Shore's Daughter" is the story of one of the titans, the empire builders of the New World, and his daughter.

"James Shore" was one of the "robber barons." He was a western mining magnate who came to riches at the dawn of the century. He was typical of the order: hard-fisted, everlastingly energetic, unscrupulous and purposeful. These men were followed by others of the type which Violet Shore married. They ceased to get wealth by building it and mining it. "I have seen the new titans in their offices," says the story-teller. "The salt had gone out of them, and with it some of the grimness. They preferred being imitation gentlemen and paper Napoleons upon company and may paper off with more paper till at last in the secret center of the vast and flimsy maze, sat a smooth-faced, fidgety little man with the eyes of the petty swindler—a rabbit, whom the worship of the others had made a god for a while."

The "new" came to be little left for the personal aggrandizement, the personal possession of the titans. In the end we see that if life is to mean anything at all it must be conducted in a wholly different manner than life was conducted by the empire builders.

Beside this picture there is a tender love story and a refreshing insight into the more subtle impulses and emotions of human nature. There is a refreshing rightness about the style. The book is a wonderful antidote for too much shock. There is good observation of human nature and a sufficient effort to write well to command respect for the author, which is saying more than can be said for every interesting author these days.

"Private Words," by Phyllis Bottome, published by Houghton Mifflin Company.

The setting of "Private Words" is a mental hospital in England. It is a large, efficiently run institution, in which the heads are on the alert for new developments in the treatment of mental cases and committed to the belief that every patient is curable, thus surrounding him with a constructive atmosphere. In the course of the story local color is brought in by various cases, not too many, only a few, enough to bring out the personalities of the book, their competence, their emotional balance, or, in one case, lack of it. The cases of course have an unusual interest for the reader.

The book is rather an emotional rampart. A woman psychiatrist of marked ability, a man psychiatrist who is brilliant, a sweet little wife, a superintending officer of the hospital with a highly developed prejudice against women, unusual in a man of such mental training, his sister who had murdered her husband in a set-up which affords the emotions of the characters considerable opportunity.

Jane, the woman doctor, discovered that she had become too important in another person's life. Such a thing is possible and it is unhealthy and fraught with harm. That is the outstanding theme of the book which one will read in order to be convinced of the fact, as one is by such a situation as is presented in this book.

The title is explained by one of the most thoughtful of the characters in the book. "One has to mix in with people more," he says. "There mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well. The one's all right! One must stand open to life."

Naturally gregarious people, people who are not sufficient to themselves; who are not devoted to thought will not see more in the book than an exciting story. For those who are thoughtful it will have considerable beyond the story.

You Must Relax, by Edmund Jacobson, M. D., published by Whittlesby House.

Here is another book with a title that should sell the book.

Most people today who are living active lives at all reach a point where they realize that to continue to enjoy activity, to retain a zest for living, to conserve their powers, they must learn to relax. "You Must Relax" is a practical book which describes minutely the technique of relaxation. And the surprising value of the book arises from the fact that there is more technique to it than the layman realizes. By perfecting this technique one should get more improvement from rest periods than the individual is now getting. It is no grandiloquent book which promises more than it can fulfill.

"My particular concern," says the author, "is the layman, healthy yet seeking physical betterment and preservation, or fatigued and overwrought—perhaps sleepless, irritable, inattentive or worried." The book promises as much as it can give. It is as popular as "Life Begins at Forty" with which it can properly be classified.

Modern Poets

By MISS BEULAH MAY

Two poems by Frances Frost: Confessions To Be Read After Death

I stole what was not mine to take—
A black crow call in a silver broke.

A mountain cherry-tree I took,
And the undertone of a mountain brook.

(The mountain itself I had to leave—
I could not hide it in my sleeve.)

I stole the river-mist that crept
Through meadows while the farmers slept.

I snatched the moon from a pasture hill—
Calves were bawling, tree-roads still—

(But no one caught me, no one
Moonlight dripped on the sandy ground.)

Farmers wondered where orchards went,
And what their careful stone wall meant

By disappearing overnight,
And what blew hen-hawks out of sight.

(I stole; impenitent, I confess,
If there's a man who would possess

These things again when I am dead,
He'll find them hidden in my head.)

TESTAMENT
To my one friend I do bequeath
All this hill that lies beneath:
Lost leaves, silver grass, and stones,
And tree-roots twisting round my bones.

I do deny to my one foe
All this hill conceals below.
And he may laugh or he may whistle,
He gets an unexpected thistle!

STRONG DRAMA SPY PICTURE AT BROADWAY IT WEST COAST ON THURSDAY NEXT FRIDAY

"Whom the Gods Destroy," Columbia's powerful drama of a man's great love for his son, featuring Walter Connolly, Robert Young and Doris Kenyon, will head the new bill at the Broadway theater starting Thursday for a three-day run.

The story briefly concerns a successful Broadway stage producer whose one dominating aim in life is to perpetuate his name in the theater through his son. In a shipwreck, the producer courageously helps women and children in getting into life-boats and even gives his own life to save a woman. But in a mad frenzy and panic when he realizes he will never see his loved ones again, he gets into a boat disguised as a woman.

Branded as a coward at his rescue, he gives a false name and retires to a life of drifting and seclusion, while at home he is mourned as a hero. He watches his son's progress at the theater from afar, disappointed at his son's lack of genius. Without disclosing his identity, he works with his son to produce the boy's final hit. The final scenes mark a highly dramatic climax.

Others in the cast include Jack Mulhall, Hobart Bosworth, Macon Jones, Scott Beckett, Mabel Turner, Rollo Lloyd and Akim Tamiroff. A selected program of short subjects will be included in the bill.

Shirley Temple In Comedy at State

Tom Tyler in a typically fast-moving and thrilling western story feature shares honors as the main attraction with a comedy in which Shirley Temple the new darling of the films has an important part, on the bill at Walkers State theater which shows for the last time tonight.

The comedy is "What To Do?" and Tyler's picture is "War of the Range," in which there are many complications before the hero gets things all straightened out.

A Mickey Mouse comedy, "Puppy Love," a news reel and a chapter of the "Perils of Pauline," also are on the program.

"Painted Desert" Ballet Scheduled In L.A. Wednesday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—"The Painted Desert," Lester Horton's spectacular American Indian ballet with music by Homer Grunn, featuring noted soloists and a chorus of 100 dancers, will have its world premiere at the air-cooled Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles, Wednesday night, August 8. Reservations from famous motion picture stars, society patrons and concert followers forecast a brilliant attendance. The Shrine Ballet Orchestra, Leonard Walker conducting, will provide the musical accompaniment.

In "The Painted Desert" Horton will introduce native rainbow dances, sun rituals, fire and rain ceremonials and war dances of the Navajo, Hopi, Apache and Zuni tribes. Lush settings, exotic costumes and colorful light effects will enhance the splendor of a performance. Horton is one of America's foremost directors of Indian pageants.

Homer Grunn, the composer, spent several weeks visiting Indian tribes that roam the Painted Desert in Arizona and New Mexico. He discovered a wealth of primitive music which he has incorporated in his score.

The fourth and final ballet on the Shrine auditorium summer series will be Ethel Meglin's fantasy, "Three Little Pigs," featuring 500 famous Meglin Kiddies, August 22. The ballet will be the most pretentious offering of the season.

CUT LICENSE FEES

BREA, Aug. 4.—City Attorney Elmer Guy has received instructions from the city council to draft a new ordinance supervising dog license fees. The fees are being reduced from $4 to $2 for females and from $2 to $1 for male dogs.

A human drama of a woman spy, her danger, despair and fear when love conflicts with duty is set out in "Stamboul Quest," which will show at the West Coast theater for a week starting next Friday.

The scenes are replete with comedy in dialogue and action, while the melodrama is tense and gripping. The cast includes Myrna Loy, George Brent, Lionel Atwill, C. Henry Gordon, Rudolph Amendt and Mischa Auer.

Germany and Turkey during the turbulent days of the World war are the locales for "Stamboul Quest," in which dangerous romance is the theme. A German woman spy reports to her officers that Mata Hari is mixing romance with duty but later she treads a similar pathway, resulting in many interesting and amazing things happening that make her career just as dangerous but vividly different from that of the famous Mata Hari.

Burlesque comedy and spy-trapping thrillingly introduce an American and romance as he falls head over heels in love with the German spy.

CHATTERTON DRAMA AND GAY COMEDY COMING TO STATE

The emotional dramatic artist, Ruth Chatterton, heads the cast of "Journal of a Crime," a story giving the motives, action and consequences of a murder, with the action set in France, which will be seen on the double feature program beginning next Wednesday at Walker's State theater, according to Manager Vic Walker.

Adolph Menjou as her successful playwright husband and Claire Dodd as an actress who is a home breaker, are other prominent players in the film.

The second feature is "The Countess of Monte Carlo," with Fay Wray and Paul Lukas in the leading roles. This story presents the unique situation of an extra girl of the films who masquerades as a countess and rockets to fame on the ensuing publicity.

Gay comedy and hectic romance are combined in the story.

UNUSUAL COMEDY TO SHOW AT WALKER'S

A double-barreled comedy with a couple of cowboys transferred from the plains of Montana to the fog shrouded countryside of a medieval English castle, is the film far topping the program next Friday and Saturday at Walker's State theater.

Real laughs are assured by Slim Summerville and Andy Devine with capable assistance from Leila Hyams, according to Manager Vic Walker. The title is "Horseplay."

Other subjects on the program are "Beauty and the Beast," a cartoon in color; a news reel; a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline" and a Harry Langdon comedy, "Trimmed in Furs."

Laugh Thriller Ends Run Tonight

A mixture of laughs and thrills, piling fast upon each other, feature the picture, "Murder in the Private Car," with Charles Ruggles and Mary Carlisle, which plays for the last times at the Broadway theater tonight.

Ruggles gets many laughs by his sleuthing as he stalks sundry, interlocking menaces which threaten a beautiful young telephone operator who suddenly becomes an alleged heiress. The sleuth finally routs the evil forces, but how he does it makes hilarious comedy, interwoven with plenty of thrills.

"HERE COMES JEAN HARLOW THE NAVY" NOW FILM SUNDAY AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

A smashing drama of Uncle Sam's sailors on the ocean, on shore and in the air, "Here Comes the Navy!" will close at the West Coast theater Thursday night after opening here yesterday.

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien have the starring roles in the new picture, which combines romance, rollicking comedy, rapid-fire action and breath-taking thrills.

Cagney and O'Brien, two seamen, are the bitterest of enemies, Jimmy having joined the navy just for a chance to get even with O'Brien who has knocked him cold in a fistful encounter and stolen his girl, a part played by Dorothy Tree. To add fuel to their hatred, Jimmy falls in love with a beautiful girl, Gloria Stuart, who turns out to be his enemy's sister.

Stirring scenes in the picture were filmed with the U. S. S. dirigible Macon, the Arizona, at San Diego Naval Training station and at the navy yards at Bremerton, Wash. Besides a large cast, 3000 gobs take part in the picture. Others in the cast include Frank McHugh, Maude Eburne, Robert Barrag, William Robertson, Guinn Williams, Howard Hickman and George Irving.

Short subjects include "All on Deck" with Henry Paul and his orchestra, a novelty, "Strange as It Seems," an Oswald cartoon, "William Tell," a scenic, "A Trip Through Central America," and World News.

New Crosby Film Will Open Soon

Characterized as "swell entertainment" by moving picture critics, with Bing Crosby's name to blazon the picture, "She Loves Me Not," will open a four-day engagement Sunday, Aug. 12 at the Broadway theater. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Sparkling lines, engaging romance, hilarious situations and Bing Crosby's voice in a number of new songs guarantees excellent entertainment, it was said. Critics said Crosby gives his best performance, both in crooning and in acting, in the picture.

Miriam Hopkins is effective in the guise of a silly, blabbing chorus girl.

Edward Robinson Film Is Booked

Edward G. Robinson is starred in a new picture, "The Man With Two Faces," a strange and baffling murder mystery drama which will show at the Broadway theater starting August 16, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Dazzling Jean Harlow comes back to the screen after an absence of eight months in the new picture, "The Girl From Missouri," which will show at the Broadway theater for four days starting tomorrow.

The production tells the story of Eadie Chapman, a very modern girl, much desired by all rich men who meet her.

The picture flits rapidly from swanky penthouses of New York to the pleasure palaces of Florida and back.

Lionel Barrymore, dean of stage and screen, shares honors with Miss Harlow in the role of a wealthy man who is a national political power. Franchot Tone makes his second appearance with Miss Harlow as the son of Barrymore who falls madly in love with Eadie.

Additional humor is supplied by Patsy Kelly, popular New York comedienne, who has been featured in short comedies and with Marion Davies. The fifth member of the notable quintet that leads the cast is Lewis Stone.

Selected short subjects to be shown on the program include a Chaplin Chase comedy, "Till Take Vanilla," a Pete Smith oddity, "William Tell," a scenic, "A Trip Through Central America," and Register World News events.

RURAL ROMANCE AND COMEDY ON STATE PROGRAM

"As the Earth Turns," based on a romance of rural New England life, and "Bottoms Up," an amusing revelation of Hollywood's innermost secrets, are combined on the double bill at Walker's State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Jean Muir and Donald Woods are the featured players in "As the Earth Turns," which deals with the homely events in the everyday life of a group of farm folks. It is taken from the novel by Gladys Hasty Carroll which was a best seller.

"Bottoms Up" reveals the activities of three merry rogues and a girl with movie ambitions who put on a false front and succeed in crashing the cinema capital. Many popular tunes are included in the film, such as "Waitin' at the Gate for Katie," "Turn on the Moon," and "Little Did I Dream." The cast includes John Boles, Pat Patterson, who makes her American debut in this picture, Spencer Tracy, Herbert Mundin and Harry Green.

A cartoon, "Tropical Fish" is the other subject on the bill.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1934

Forest Home Dwellers
Scale Rock Cliffs
Of Grayback

Conquering the stern and barren slopes of Grayback, highest peak in Southern California, towering 11,485 feet above sea level, is one of the favorite diversions of the more practiced hikers who congregate in Forest Home during the season. The climb was accomplished the past week by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Farwell, Miss Martha Jane and Royce Farwell, who are summer visitors in the Forest Home tract, and Mrs. William G. Knox and Miss Marjorie Knox, who always spend their summers there.

Miss Marjorie has written a vivid account of the feat to Santa Ana friends, telling of the party's start early Wednesday morning with supplies loaded on the back of a patient burro. They reached Dollar Lake (12 miles distant) the first day, and made an open air camp. The following morning they hiked "by flashlight and star light to the windy, treeless peak," reaching the summit in time to greet the rising sun.

"We could see the mountain ranges shutting us away from Arizona," Miss Knox writes. "Look down upon majestic San Jacinto; see dear old Saddle Back thrusting its two prominent peaks high in the air. The view was beautiful, and looked like a relief map. Most interesting of all was to see the huge pyramid of a shadow cast by Grayback upon the plain as the sun rose behind the peak."

Returning to Dollar Lake the hikers spent the remainder of that day and another night at the resort, watching the arrivals and departures of approximately 300 hikers and riders from South Fork and Big Bear valley summer camps. One party consisted of 56 lads comprising a boys' camp in Mountain Cabin.

There was a lively house-party at the Harry Warner cabin over the past week end when Mr. and Mrs. Warner entertained nine members of United Presbyterian choir. On Sunday services at Fallsview school house, they gave a special musical program for which an appreciative crowd gathered. Chorus numbers were varied by beautiful solos sung by Miss Verne Helm and by James Lukens. Others in the ensemble were Mildred Lukens, Jennette Johnson, Barbara Warner, John Hoy, Minor Warner, Wendell Lukens, Rodney Smiley and Willard White. Harry Warner accompanied at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks are entertaining a succession of guests in these final few weeks before closing their cabin "Cobblehurst," and returning to their Santa Ana home, 401 West Eighth street. One day this past week they welcomed a party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. C. Warren Brakeman, Mrs. Jessie White, Mrs. R. E. Coulter, Miss Lulu Minter and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, all of Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks are entertaining Mrs. F. A. Fairbanks of Rochester, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Davis, 2432 Riverside drive, are enjoying a stay in their Forest Home cabin. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lockett and children, 2038 North Broadway, have been occupying the G. P. Hill cottage but have now returned to Santa Ana.

At Other Resorts
Guests at Big Falls lodge include Mr. and Mrs. F. Rinehart and son Billy, who are enjoying a two weeks' stay there. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunham of Brea just completed a vacation outing at the Lodge.

In the A. B. Rousselet cottage at the Valley of the Falls are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hooker and son Arthur, of Newport.

Torrey's Camp has been popular with Orange county folk. Mrs. Katherine Stanton, Mrs. Eva C. Logan and Miss Frances Wilcox of Tustin, were recent guests there, as were Mrs. L. A. Crowe and children, Anna and Paul, of Brea, and Mrs. Crowe's sister, Shirley Woodward of Orland; and a party composed of Mrs. Floyd La Grasse and sons, Benton and Donald, of Brea, and nieces, Mildred and Jean Moore of Los Angeles.

Among guests at Santa Ana Camp Grounds are the Misses Gertrude and Beatrice Rankin, who enjoyed a week end visit from their parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rankin and son Earl, 613 South Ross street. Ralph Beckman and Herbert Clark are other Santa Anas enjoying the Camp Grounds as a vacation resort.

Golden Wedding Given
Happy Celebration
For Honored Pair

Some seventy-five friends called yesterday afternoon and evening at the Onie A. Sanders home, 904 Louise street, to offer congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Patterson, parents of Mrs. Sanders, upon their golden wedding anniversary.

Hosts at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, with whom they make their home; and the two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Patterson of Fullerton, and Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Patterson of Santa Ana Gardens. They had used sunny yellow blossoms to deck the home, and to these were added the handsome clusters of flowers sent by many interested friends.

Guests began arriving early in the afternoon, and continued their calls until in the evening hours. An informal program offered entertainment, and this included the singing of favorite old songs, in which James W. Nuckolls led, and all present joined with enthusiasm. Mr. Nuckolls also sang a solo appropriate to the anniversary and joined with Mrs. Erma Baxter Owings in the duet, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." Mrs. Owings sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" as a solo, and Mr. and Mrs. James Carlson added other duet numbers, including "Silver Threads Among the Gold," sung to guitar accompaniment.

Miss Frances Walton gave a reading, "Betty at the Ball Game," and a congratulatory talk was made by the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are members. One of the prettiest features of the program was when the three little daughters of the Herbert Pattersons of Anaheim, sang "The Old Spinning Wheel." The little girls were three-year-old Patsy, Joyce and Louree, the latter not yet ten years old.

Prominent among the guests was Todd McClellan of this city, who was at the wedding a half century ago when Miss Hattie Belle Ferrel became the bride of J. H. Patterson, in Snyder, Texas. The young people remained in Texas for many years, among the pioneer residents of their community. Mr. Patterson was engaged in ranching and has many exciting tales to relate of early days in Texas when herds of buffalo roamed the plains.

After his retirement from active business life he and his wife came to California a number of years ago, living first near Anaheim and later in Santa Ana. In addition to the daughter and two sons of this community, they have another daughter, Mrs. D. C. Champion, in northern California, and two sons, E. B. Patterson, of Texas, and Grafton Patterson, of Louisiana. They have also 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Grandchildren present yesterday were Onie Sanders Jr. of the home, James, Bishop, Bruce and John Patterson of Santa Ana Gardens, and Louree, Joyce and Patsy Patterson of Anaheim.

There were telegrams, greeting cards, flowers and gifts for the honored couple, including fifty dollars in gold, the gift of local friends, made through Messrs. James Carlson and F. E. Burks, and presented by Mr. Carlson.

At intervals during the afternoon and evening, Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Haywood Patterson and Mrs. Herbert Patterson, served Mrs. Royal was a member of 1934 graduating class at Huntington Beach Union High school.

Miss Dorothy Chesley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Chesley of Malverna avenue, Fullerton, whose betrothal to Marshall Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindsay of Tustin, has inspired so many pleasant parties, was again complimented Thursday evening at a bridge party in the home of her sister, Mrs. Worth Babbit (Virginia Chesley), 320 Lacy street.

At the same time, Miss Chesley was presented with a set of napkins from the party guests to match a handsome linen tablecloth which she had received at an earlier shower. MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

Do you own a pique frock? If not, this pattern presents the perfect form in which to own one. Of course, it is a perfect frock for many sorts of fabrics, but we pick on pique because we like it, and because the new ones in the shops are divine. Take, for instance, a plain beige with brown buttons, or a white with bright green buttons, or a stripe, or for that matter, a fine plaid. The smart shoulders would set exactly right and the skirt would hang beautifully, and it would wear and wear and make a good friend of the laundress.

Pattern 1864 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32. Size 16 takes 3 yards of 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

AM MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Dinner

Cream of mushroom soup
2 small lamb chops, broiled with whole tomatoes
4 teps. steamed summer squash
1 teps. thin cream for dressing
Salad of grated raw carrot, cabbage and cubed pineapple with diet mayonnaise
Fresh baked apple with 1 tsp. sugar, no cream
Black coffee or clear tea

Calory total—500

For four portions, empty 1 can of cream of mushroom soup into a kettle and add a scant 2 cups of hot water. Bring to a gentle boil, taste and season. Have ready a small amount of lightly whipped cream. In the diet cup put a small teaspoonful and fill the cup with hot soup. The family portions may have more cream, of course.

Pre-heat the broiler for the chops. Arrange them in a shallow pan, dust with salt, pepper and garlic salt, a piece of butter on each chop. Slip under the broiler, turn once, and slip the tomatoes among the chops before returning the dish to the broiling oven, placing the pan not so near the flame. 20 minutes will cook chops, 10 minutes the tomatoes. (Nip out tomato stems, do not peel, and fill with butter and chopped parsley.)

The pre-heated oven will do to bake potatoes for the family dinner. The apples may be baked at the same time, without sugar, and in a covered casserole. Serve cookies with the baked apple for family dessert.

The Calory list (830 items) and the Safe and Sane Reducing Diet are available free of charge. However, you are asked to exchange a favorite recipe for the Calory list and to enclose a stamped envelope.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Elisha Helps the Needy

Text: II Kings 4:1-7; 42-44.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 5.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The solution of social problems, especially as they affect the individual in financial pressure and hardship, would be easy if it could be met in every case with the miraculous power exercised by Elisha in the story that constitutes the major part of our lesson.

The situation is simple and one that has been, unfortunately, too often repeated in the history of every society.

A woman had lost her husband by death, and a creditor was pressing for settlement of debts. The age permitted some practices that are no longer in use today, and the creditor had come to take the woman's two sons as bondsmen until the debt should be paid.

In her distress she appealed to Elisha, and Elisha, according to the ancient story, solved her problem by a miracle. She had in her house only a pot of oil—a slight thing that intervened between her and complete poverty.

Nevertheless, Elisha told her to go and borrow vessels from her neighbors, empty vessels and many of them. Then to shut the door upon herself and her sons and to pour the oil into the vessels, setting them aside as they were filled.

The woman did as she was told, and as the oil was poured out it increased until all the vessels were filled, though even more were brought. As she came joyfully to tell Elisha what had happened, he told her to go and sell the oil, pay the debt, and maintain her children with the balance.

It is a beautiful story which we wish might be applied very directly to all such problems. Unfortunately, the method does not seem available, and there is little hope that we can help neccessitous widows and other needy people today through such miraculous means.

Nevertheless, the story has a deeper significance than might appear. Deeply written in the record is the prophet's profound sympathy with the woman and his willingness to help her.

If there were everywhere the same sympathy with the distressed, needy, and oppressed, and the willingness to help them, considering all the resources of our modern life, the things available for such help would correspond very truly to the cruise of oil that never failed.

Though the powers that God offers us for solution of our social problems today are not miraculous, they are so abundant, if we are only following God's way and are obedient to his will, that not even this amazing story could over-represent the increasing fruitfulness and productivity of the means of ministrations.

Along with this is a story of the increase of loaves of barley bread and full ears of corn that corresponds in some respect to the story in the New Testament of the miraculous feeding of five thousand.

Here again, though we may not expect to see such miracles repeated in our modern society, the stories suggest the inexhaustible powers and resources with which God has endowed us in nature and life, if we will but make use of these means in God's way, with the courage of those who have all things are devoted to the doing of his will and to the service of humanity in love and ministrations.

THE TINYMIES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Wee Duncy cried, "How can we cut the melons? I could do it, but I have no knife. I guess we'll have to smash them with a stick."

Just then two birds swooped to the ground. "Oh, your plan is not very sound," one chirped. "I can suggest a plan that you'll agree to."

"Go right ahead," said Scouty. "Gee, I'm curious as I can be, and also I am hungry for a slice of melon, now."

"They are the nicest I have seen. The inside's red, the outside green. When we get set to eat them, I'll show the whole bunch how."

"Well," said the bird, "just find a stick. Then while it's still in the melon, cut it out. Just like you need a knife. That's really all you need."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Scouty. "You are smart. The melons soon will fall apart. I'll get the stick and do the cutting. Watch me show some speed."

And then he scampered all around until a real fine stick was found. The whittling didn't take him long. "Now I'm all set," he cried.

"You Tinkles line up, right nearby. I'll give you each a slice, and try to make them all the same size." "Hurry up," wee Dot-

The cutting was a funny sight. Wee Scouty sawed with all his might. "You act just like a woodsman," shouted Windy, with a smile.

"You'll have us waiting all day long. Say, lad, I thought that you were strong. You'd better rest and let me do the cutting for a while."

"All right," said Scouty. "Thanks a lot. The cutting's made me very hot." So Coppy took his turn. Real soon there was a piece for all.

Each Tiny started eating and the melon splashed to beat the band. One of the birds cried, "Careful, now! Don't let your pieces fall!"

POLITICAL HAY

Now comes Senator Borah and offers to furnish a counsel free to a baker in a town in Idaho, if there is any attempt by the NRA authorities to force him to increase the price of bread or close up. Senator Borah wrote him, in part, as follows:

I feel you are justified in going ahead and conducting your business as you have been conducting it and disregarding all instructions to raise the price of bread. If you choose to take this course and are prosecuted I will see that you get counsel without expense to you.

I contend that they have no right to direct you to increase the price of your bread. I not only contend they have no constitutional right to do so, but that it is indefensible in morals and economics.

Senator Borah undoubtedly has the popular end of this particular controversy. No one likes the price of bread raised, whose only interest in it is to buy it and eat it. The other people, who are interested in making a profit out of it, and desire to avoid certain elements of competition, may look upon it in a different manner.

We cannot help being reminded, however, by this episode, that when the NRA went into effect, prices were demoralized, certainly beyond all hope of redemption. It was only by concerted action of all of those engaged in any industry that any sort of stabilization could take place.

The NRA and the AAA provided the method by which this could be accomplished. As the various elements of production took advantage of it and business began to be restored to something like normal conditions, the consuming public began to think in terms of prices and every mother's son of us wants the prices reduced on everything, except that in the production or distribution of which we are engaged.

This should be borne in mind when any attempt is made to appraise the situation. The conditions under the NRA are pretty difficult to evaluate at the present time.

General Hugh Johnson has, by the character of his speeches, the nature of his utterances, and his many seemingly conflicting opinions, rather added confusion to the whole mess.

While at first it seemed as though Mr. Johnson was a good selection, able, brusque and forceful, yet it can be seen now that another type of man entirely, undoubtedly should have been chosen for this important position. Of course we know there is an effort being put forth to make confusion, particularly just at this time.

After the primaries and election, undoubtedly, efforts will be put forth to calm down and unite the forces of the country. After all we can get farther on some program than no program.

The opponents of the NRA cannot agree on any program themselves, as each has his own particular reason for objecting to it. It is unlikely that anything could be worked out that would receive the support of anything like as many people as are supporting the present leadership.

PUT THE WEAPON AWAY

Wide publicity should be given to the tragic death of the little two-year-old "Dickie" Farrell who was shot and killed by a playmate yesterday, so that everyone with children in their homes may take precautions to keep deadly weapons away from curious little investigators. There are those who do not trust the highest closet shelf as a safe hiding place for a loaded gun, when there are children in the house, and there are others who leave loaded revolvers in bureau drawers. A good place for guns, when there are children in the house, is a storage warehouse, the police station, the bottom of Newport Harbor, a pawn shop, or, if you just can't part with the weapon, unloaded and buried twenty feet in the back yard.

Normal children who are as bright as they should be are insatiably curious. And added to their curiosity is a strange interest in guns.

Children get into many things they should not get into in their busy lives. They shove their little fingers into all sorts of things. Any mother could give us a longer list of dangers they embrace in a day than an editor could think of in a month but the most common, the most deadly is the encounter of the child with deadly firearms or firearms thought to be unloaded and carelessly left somewhere within reach.

It is to be hoped that the death of little two-year-old "Dickie" Farrell will move some other parents to put a weapon not where they think the child can't find it but where the child really can't find it.

CURSE ON LOUISIANA

In midst of strikes, serious political discussions, NRA disputes and vacation trips, we have Huey P. Long of Louisiana. Huey has all the other politicians, as the saying is, "backed off the boards."

While New Orleans has rebelled against his rule and the mayor has set up an independent "kingdom," Huey still seems to have a grasp on the state.

The newspapers are pretty much all against him, but imagine, he asked the legislature to put a two per cent tax on the gross income of all newspapers and they did it! While you are talking about political power, we will place that act up against anything else that has ever been engineered in the United States.

We have known politicians who have taken legal advertising away from papers to punish them for "getting off the reservation." But Huey stands distinct and alone as penalizing all the papers of his state by a special tax and having the legislature adopt it in double-quick time.

Huey had the governor call on the state militia to get possession of the registrar's list in New Orleans. The state troops came down, got hold of the registrar's list, but on the other hand the police of New Orleans were mobilized and it looked as though a battle were imminent.

Now comes the latest. A court order is obtained, demanding that Senator Long have the troops disbanded.

Senator Long journeys to the capital and makes the request of his own governor to carry out the court order. He comes out with a broad and expansive smile, chuckling, and gives out the declaration: "The governor refuses my demands."

We were all predicting that they had Huey down. We rather think most of the people were hoping so, but he seems to be dancing merrily along.

The newsprint industry, that is, the manufacturers of the paper, expressed approval, at a public hearing in Washington yesterday, of a NRA proposal for the creation of a newsprint paper planning and adjustment board with authority over prices and supply.

The representative of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, took the position in regard to this that the manufacturers have violated anti-trust law decrees and "the time has come when the NRA, instead of listening further to their plans to cloak their illegal acts with administrative sanction, should refer their case to the attorney-general for appropriate action."

Those who are endeavoring, in the newsprint industry, to establish a practical monopoly, through regulating the amount of paper that newspapers can use and the price thereof, would receive the control of the newsprint industry and take it out of the free competition in which the newspapers have been endeavoring to keep it.

It would be proposed to authorize them to consider the requirements of consumers of paper, the ability of the industry to meet these requirements, and then the extent to which newsprint should be imported. There has been a constant effort to put a tariff upon foreign newsprint, so as to practically create a monopoly in this country, and this has been fought by the newspapers.

The NRA specifically prohibits monopolies. But unfortunately, in its operation, as Senator Borah has pointed out, it tends to create them. In the adoption of the NRA code now, it is predicted that it more securely insures this monopolistic control. It is not probable that the newspapers will enter into this program, even though the code provides that out of a board of nine, three of them shall be selected from the publishers.

It is very probable that the newspapers will almost with unanimity, be against this proposition. While this is not as strong a position taken by the government as by Senator Huey Long, yet it is going some distance.

Hitler's Retreat

New York World-Telegram

Mussolini is being widely cheered as the international hero in the Austrian crisis. He deserves credit for acting quickly to warn Germany that Austrian independence is inviolate. Italy's selfish interest in retaining a buffer Austria between herself and encroaching Germany happened in this instance to jibe with the larger interest of world peace.

But we are inclined to believe that Hitler should share the peace laurels with Mussolini. Sometimes a retreat requires more courage than an advance. And Hitler certainly has been running backward very fast during the last two days.

Whether Hitler had any direct connection with the Austrian Nazi rising perhaps may never be known, but his indirect responsibility was clear. When Hitler's minister in Vienna tried to help the Dollfuss assassins escape safely into Germany, the danger of allied intervention in defense of Austria became immediate.

Faced by the united powers of Europe and hostile world opinion, a quick Hitler retreat was in order. Although that seems obvious from a distance, it could not have been easy for Hitler. Because he was letting down not only his Austrian followers but also the German Nazis. To retreat Hitler had to breast the Nazi fanaticism which he himself had invoked. This will not increase his popularity in his own party.

Even so, Hitler is not yet in the clear in the Austrian crisis. Several hasty gestures of professed neutrality by the Berlin government have helped to preserve European peace during the last 48 hours, but that neutrality will not long be taken seriously if Hitler persists in allowing his armed Austrian Nazis to use Germany as a military base for Austrian invasions.

Hitler's retreat is not finished.

Recasting the Big Mirror

New York Times

With a cheerfulness that speaks well for scientists, the technicians responsible for the production of a 200-inch mirror are to do their work over again. There is nothing optically wrong with the first twenty-ton pancake of glass. It will still find a use as a testing surface. Certain ceramic cores freed by the heat of the molten mass above them floated to the top. The resultant defects might have been cured by machine-work, but at a cost that made it advisable to cast a new blank.

The largest mirror at present in use is the 100-inch reflector of Mount Wilson. Cast at St. Gobain, France, by what was regarded as the most competent organization of its kind in the world, bubbles and other defects were apparent. Mount Wilson feared spontaneous breaking. In the end Mount Wilson had to accept the glass. St. Gobain could do no better.

It is a credit to American mirror-makers that they think nothing of casting an entirely new blank. They now stand supreme in this highly specialized field of activity. Their glass, made according to their own formula, is much the same as that used for oven dishes; the casting mechanism is of their invention; their technique is their own. Here we have another proof of the strides made by American science in the last two decades.

Just The Echo Of An Old Refrain

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

CRIME PROGRESSES

No more the Chinese pirate
Spreads terror on the sea
As Captain Kidd
So often did
In days that used to be.
He's learned more modern methods
His wealthy prey to cow;
He long has sunk
His clumsy junk
And runs a racket now.

The docile, once so thirsty
For other people's gore,
Pursues the ways
Of old-time days
Of banditry no more.
He gathers gangs together
And wanders to and fro
To rob and loot
And knife and shoot
Like Dillinger and Co.

If Robin Hood were living
He'd build big armored tanks,
And he'd employ
Them to destroy
The vaults in modern banks.
The crooks of earlier ages
Believed that they were rough.
But just the same
Their little game
Was pretty old-time stuff.

Love is like any stimulant. The more kick it provides, the worse you feel when it dies out.

Easy way to fail: Spend your time thinking up a way to get money instead of a way to deserve it.

A hick town is a place where the policemen are men who give thanks for a crop failure.

What a world! The jobless get less relief because men on strike must be fed at public expense, too.

Thrift: The sad business of saving your money for your heirs to spend.

YOU CAN'T TELL WILLIE, BUT MOST GREAT MEN WERE ONCE REGARDED BY THE NEIGHBORS AS FLEDGLING JAILBIRDS.

"Aw, be a sport!" is usually just a longer way of saying "Gimme."

That is, abuse of the pardoning power is shameful until you have some friend or relative in the pen.

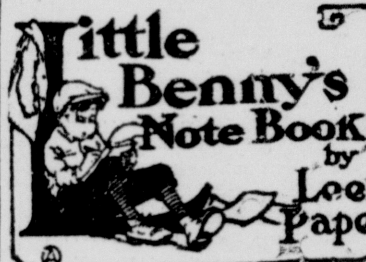

The city man has one advantage. He doesn't make life-long enemies by refusing to sign a petition.

AMERICANISM: Beginning with great hope of "being somebody;" losing heart because you can't get started at the top.

Some people grow up and others never learn to keep still when it's none of their business.

But if writers must live the part before they can make it seem real, how do moderns keep out of jail?

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

IT IS UP TO THE BUSINESS MAN

The vast majority of Americans, the leadership of American business, industry and finance to say how far infringements on private enterprise shall go in the readjustments imperatively before us. There is a growing school of thought that insists that private profit and public service cannot be reconciled. I think they can. They could not in Adam Smith's day. His famous doctrine that social needs are best served by intelligent self-interest was premature. It was not true then. And it did not become true until the power age made the adequacy and security of the profits of industry, with its mass output, absolutely dependent upon the building of ample buying power and the providing of ample leisure among the consuming masses. In such an age unselfish and anti-social self-interest means bankruptcy for the industrialists.

If the business men will only give us an economic life in which an economics of consumption makes possible the full human use of the technology of production we have developed, America will never be caught in the sweep of the present trend towards the alienating state with its Fascist right and its Communist left. It is up to the business men. Copyright, 1934, McClure Newspaper-Syn.

Freak Wind, Rain and Hail Storm Scatters Debris Over Wide Area

CENTERS AT PHOENIX

State Highway and Railroad Washed Out as Creeks Overflow Banks

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 4.—(UP)—The Salt River valley today dug out from debris scattered over a wide area by a freak wind, rain and hail storm that brought death to a Mexican youth and caused thousands of dollars in damage.

The fury of the storm centered about Phoenix, extending into the Patagonia district, where a 13-year-old Mexican youth was drowned in Sonita creek, following one of the worst cloudbursts reported in 20 years.

The creek was turned into a raging torrent and overflowed on the Southern Pacific tracks at Patagonia, washing out the state highway near Tubac and flooding the town.

Telephone service into Buckeye and Tucson was disrupted most of the night. The service had not been restored to Buckeye at noon today. More than two miles of telegraph and telephone wires were reported down along the highway leading into the town. Electric light and telephone services in Phoenix were disrupted for several hours as the freak dust and rain storm was whipped by a 60-mile an hour wind. Trees were uprooted, small houses and barns were overturned and many lettuce and vegetable sheds between Litchfield and Glendale were destroyed.

In the Flagstaff and Prescott areas a heavy rain and hail storm brought .38 inches of moisture in to the drought stricken area, the first heavy rain of the season. A heavy blanket of snow covered the RENO, Nev., Aug. 4.—(UP)—As-sailing "hands off" tactics of post-war Republican administrations, Chester C. Davis, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act, today extolled the "active partnership" of government with farmers.

The new deal will not tolerate "the jungle law of survival of the fittest," he told the western farm bureau conference here.

FIRST CHURCH IS DISCOVERED AT CATHEDRAL

Papal Archaeologists Find First Pope's Residence Built About 324

(Copyright 1934 by United Press) ROME, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Papal archaeologists, after searching 100 years, today found the first Christian church and residence of the popes, beneath the historic St. John Lateran.

The discovery, considered one of the most important in recent years, was made by accident. Workmen had been repairing the floors at the lowest level of the Lateran cathedral, in which are numerous crypts. Digging for a new foundation, the workmen's picks struck a hard surface. It proved to be a wall.

The find was conveyed to the Vatican archaeologists, who immediately ordered that the outlines of the walls be followed.

Finally, today, pieces of fourth century masonry was uncovered. The archaeologists agreed there was sufficient evidence to corroborate their belief the masonry was part of the original walls of the first church, which according to tradition was started in 324 by Emperor Constantine the First.

Originally, St. John Lateran was called the Basilica of the Saviour. It is known and revered throughout the Catholic world as "the mother church and the head of all churches of the city and of the world."

It stands on the Vatican hill and according to tradition, it is the site of St. Peter's tomb.

EUROPE REALLY WENT TO WAR TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Twenty years ago today Europe really went to war. The horror with which sober-minded Europeans had contemplated hostilities gave way to the human thrill at the tramp of soldiers' feet to the blare of military bands.

Statesmen who started the war defended their action before cheering parliaments and expressed their determination to fight to the last able-bodied man, until they alone should be left to hurl defiance from their rostra at the foe.

New Violence Breaks Out In Minneapolis

Governor Warns Employers Grant "Decent Terms," Deadline Sunday Night

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Two picketing truck drivers were shot and wounded severely by a non-union driver today in a new wave of the violence which has filled 19 days of a paralyzing transportation strike.

George Schirfs, 28, was shot in the head and Earl Collins, 36, was shot in a leg. Physicians said neither was in dangerous condition.

Patrol cars of national guardsmen converged at the scene of the fighting within a few minutes. Leo Holscher, the shooting driver of a truck Schirfs and Collins had halted, was taken into custody.

Guardsmen found the wounded pickets on the ground. Holscher, standing over them with a shotgun. The remainder of a band of guerrilla pickets, one of those which has spread a reign of terror through Minneapolis streets, had fled.

Holscher said about 15 pickets attacked him and his helper, Alfred Nelson, while they were making deliveries in an ice cream truck operating under a military permit.

"They hit me in the back with a rock, smashed the windshield and began to throw ice cream around the street," Holscher said.

"I grabbed a shotgun I carried on the roof of the cab and fired. I aimed low, and I think most of the shot hit the ground."

Photographs of the strike-breaking truck driver were suppressed by newspapers as the "request" of military authorities.

The military communication to newspapers, which was at first interpreted as an order, later was modified by Adjutant General Edward A. Walsh. General Walsh explained the "request" was not intended as censorship.

The first request for suppression of the photograph of the driver as he was being taken into military headquarters came from the provost marshal's office.

Asked for an explanation, General Walsh emphasized that the communication was intended merely as a request "in order not to put the driver on the spot."

He feared that publication of the picture might enable striking truck drivers to identify the driver.

HANDS PAY CHECK TO WIFE, SAYS ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(UP)—George Bancroft's second wife, to whom he has been married for 17 years, collects his pay check every week, assumes all the financial worries, and allows him "spending money" like many another American husband, the broad-shouldered actor revealed today in a deposition.

Bancroft, facing a suit for separate maintenance filed by his first wife, Mrs. Edna Bancroft, made the deposition after dramatically confronting her for the first time in nearly a score of years.

The actor said he was separated from his first wife in 1914 because "she was jealous of Broadway beauties and smelled perfume on my coat one night."

Each other fiends of another world. German troops, it was announced at Berlin, had entered Luxembourg and might have entered Belgium, whose neutrality Germany had guaranteed by treaty. Belgium prepared to defend its frontier.

The association of German Jews—since subdued as non-aryan—in a proclamation urged Jews to volunteer for service in the German army.

FIRE MENACES HEADQUARTERS OF HUEY LONG

Flames Break Out in the Roosevelt Hotel at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Fire broke out today in the Roosevelt hotel, elaborate hostelry in the heart of the business district and home of Senator Huey P. Long's political headquarters.

The blaze started in a pipe shaft and spread quickly from the tenth floor to a paint shop on the top floor. Flames broke through the roof.

A general alarm brought apparatus from all parts of the business district. A huge noon-day crowd spread into the street and blocked traffic.

FORCES FACE EACH OTHER ACROSS STREET NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4.—(UP)—State troops, wearing steel helmets and gas masks, defended the registrar of voter's office for Senator Huey P. Long today in defiance of a court order.

Alarmed city officials rushed 100 special policemen to the city hall to defend it. They were armed with pistols.

The hostile "armies" faced each other across 30-foot Lafayette street.

The city's legal advisers convened to debate how they might jail Senator Long and Adjutant General Ray Fleming, troop commander, for contempt of civil district court.

Newspapers charged that registrars, under troop protection, were harassing anti-Long persons who came to register for the September 11 congressional primary. The Times-Picayune alleged many were being denied the right to vote, their registration cards torn up because of such trivial errors as failure to dot an "i" or cross a "t."

Senator Long, dictator of the powerful state political machine, is at war with the city government that defeated his ticket in the January municipal election.

Troops holding aloof on the registrar's office were increased to 75 during the night. They had fortified the Soule building with

SEWELL DEFIANT OF JUDICIAL BOYCOTT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Faced with united condemnation of 30 superior court judges and an investigation by the Los Angeles Bar association, Judge Harry F. Sewell defiantly announced today he would ignore the association's inquiry Monday night.

Sewell, ousted from jurisdiction of the sanity hearing of Louis Rude Payne following revelation of an affidavit purportedly signed by him admitting he was addicted to the use of intoxicants, reiterated his "ruling" the case was a mistrial.

Thirty fellow jurists all stood firmly behind Presiding Judge Frank C. Collier, who announced a "judicial boycott" against Sewell when the latter refused demands that he resign.

Bancroft, facing a suit for separate maintenance filed by his first wife, Mrs. Edna Bancroft, made the deposition after dramatically confronting her for the first time in nearly a score of years.

The actor said he was separated from his first wife in 1914 because "she was jealous of Broadway beauties and smelled perfume on my coat one night."

STOP COMMUNIST ARMY AT SHUKOW

NANKING, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The advance of a rebel communist army on the city of Foochow was stopped today at Shukow, 35 miles west of the threatened city, the Chinese National government informed foreign consulates here.

The central government minimized the possibilities of danger to the many foreign residents of Foochow, insisting that Nationalist troops were in control of the situation. Chen Yie, chairman of the Fukien Provincial government, added a similar note of reassurance to consuls, whose solicitude for their nationals brought four warships—two Japanese, one American and one British—to the city.

Renovizing Program Starts Soon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The technique of taking the $1,500,000,000 housing program off paper and into action was almost ready today for its first test.

The housing administration which hopes to put 1,500,000 men back to work through loans to home owners for repairs, modernization, and building, is finishing drawing up the requirements for those loans.

Administrator James A. Moffatt hopes to have copies of the regulations in the hands of the 15,000 financial institutions who will finance the renovating campaign by the middle of next week.

Moffatt wants the campaign in full swing by Aug. 15. Every effort will be made to attract homeowners to improve, enlarge or rehabilitate their property. Interest rates on renovating loans are to be made as low as possible. Banks are being requested to waive demands for second mortgages or other collateral.

Usual Precautions Taken to Guard Special Train As Dynamite is Found

BULLETIN GRAND COULEE DAM, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—A tremendous cheer echoed over the sun-baked amphitheater here today when President Franklin D. Roosevelt virtually committed the government to completion of a high dam at Grand Coulee.

He envisioned thousands of persons "making a decent living," as waters of the Columbia were harnessed for irrigation.

Standing before a microphone, the president, sun-tanned and smiling, spoke to the vast audience of 30,000 as a friendly neighbor.

A BOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Enroute to Ephrata, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—President Roosevelt struck out into the heart of rugged Washington state today to see for himself the government's $60,000,000 power, navigation and irrigation project at Grand Coulee.

On the last lap of his 15,000-mile trip inspecting the workings of the New Deal, the chief executive planned to motor to the Grand Coulee workings from Ephrata.

He entered the state of Washington from Oregon, where he visited the Bonneville dam site near Portland, where the yardsticks of his "power for the people" policy.

Enthusiastic over the reception given him in Oregon and impressed with the swift progress of the Bonneville undertaking, the president looked forward to his Grand Coulee visit with a feeling that the administration's long range social and economic program was justified.

In a brief address during his inspection of the $39,000,000 Bonneville workings, Mr. Roosevelt said that the development of the Columbia river there should be just a starter for a much greater expansion in the future.

"While we are improving navigation, we are creating power, more power, and I always believe in the old saying of more power to you," he said.

"I don't believe you can have enough power for a long time to come and the power we will develop here is going to be power which for all time is going to be controlled by the government."

He spoke from a platform roughly

FINDINGS HOLD LAMSON INNOCENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Findings indicating the innocence of David Lamson, convicted wife slayer, are ready for publication. Dr. Paul W. Reager, ex-officio member of the State Federation of Churches, appointed to study the briefs and transcript of the Lamson case revealed today.

Dr. Reager said the committee will withhold its findings until the state supreme court acts on Lamson's appeal, a decision which is expected to be handed down some time before Dec. 15.

The committee interested itself in the case following Lamson's conviction last year of murdering his wife in a bathtub at their Stanford home.

CONFIRMATION OF HITLER IS SOUGHT AUG. 19

Aim for Landslide Vote to Show World People Back New Supreme Ruler

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The late president Paul von Hindenburg left no will, it was officially announced tonight.

Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today worked on a high pressure drive to bring Germans in mass to the polls August 19 to vote Adolf Hitler into office as president-chancellor under his self-selected title of fuhrer and reich chancellor.

Hitler was installed already—and legally—under the broad powers of the Nazi cabinet, and is the most absolute autocrat in the civilized world.

But Nazis, realizing doubts at home and abroad as to the strength of the submerged, but not dead, opposition elements, were eager to get out a landslide vote to show plainly Hitler was wanted by the nation on his own terms.

ly made from fir logs. Back of him were the green walls of the towering Cascades and the swiftly flowing Columbia. "River of the west," about him were steam shovels, silent for the moment, and workers in soiled clothing.

"When in Portland two years ago I laid down the principle of the need of government yardsticks so that the people of this country will know whether they are paying the proper price for electricity of all kinds," he said.

"The government can create yardsticks. At that time, one already had been started on the Colorado river. Since then two other yardsticks have been undertaken, one in the Tennessee valley and the other on the Columbia. The fourth, the St. Lawrence, is going to be started."

In this remark, he served notice on those in congress who blocked his efforts on the proposed St. Lawrence River development that he has just begun to fight.

Mr. Roosevelt commented on other aspects of his social and economic planning program in the Bonneville address.

He envisioned the Pacific Northwest as offering the opportunity for a vastly increased population.

After the speech, the president boarded his special train which will carry him eastward to the national capital.

As the train passed over the border into the state of Washington, Indians in full war paint danced around a large log fire in his honor.

The president watched the scene from a window of his private car. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, who joined him yesterday in Portland; his son James, who flew to Portland from Wyoming; and his younger sons, John and Franklin, who had accompanied their father on his trip from Annapolis through the Panama Canal to the Hawaiian Islands, then back to the continental United States.

EPHRAATA, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Accompanied by Senator C. Dill, Governor Clarence D. Martin and his official party, President Franklin D. Roosevelt motored today from his special train here to Grand Coulee to inspect the huge power and reclamation project.

A blaring sun beat down as the president set out for the dam site.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Six deputy sheriffs guarded a stretch of track two and one-half miles south of here last night and early today until a special train bearing President Roosevelt and his party passed safely over it at 1 a. m. today.

Sheriff G. G. Miles of Spokane reported he had two men guarding the stretch four days ago when a signalman reported he saw two men leave a box of eight sticks of dynamite and caps alongside the tracks. The dynamite was not connected with a fuse and would not have blown up if the train had passed the spot, he said. Deputies removed the dynamite four days ago.

Sheriff Miles said he had two men stationed at the spot since the dynamite was found and ordered four men to guard the stretch last night when the train passed over.

Railroad officials and officers said "usual" precautions were being taken on the route the presidential train will cover.

COULEE DAM, Wash., Aug. 4.—(UP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt was given a tremendous ovation by 3000 persons seated in a natural amphitheater near the site of the $65,000,000 Grand Coulee dam today.

A hot sun shone on massed thousands in shirt-sleeves and without hats.

Fifty Colville Indians, in full head dress and gay robes, faced the president when he came to the speaker's stand.

The president, with hat in hand, continually waved to crowds massed along the roadside on the 55-mile drive from Ephrata to the dam site.

Between the president and Mrs. Roosevelt in an open automobile sat Senator C. Dill of Washington. Senator Dill, who worked tirelessly for Coulee dam, introduced the president.

"When he first took office he began building," Dill said.

"He built hope where there had been only despair. He built confidence in place of fear. He is building a new America, in which all will have a more abundant life."

"A builder must have vision. A builder must have faith. Our president has them all in abundance."

"Ladies and gentlemen, I present to you the greatest builder who ever sat in the White House."

WILL ROGERS says:

HONOLULU, Aug. 4.—(To the Editor of The Register)—Well, we are heading today for the broad Pacific. It's been a wonderful week here, but it would take months to see it all. They do lots of playing here, but these old missionary families do lots of work, too. One good thing about 'em, they put all their money right back in the islands. Titty-Gen. Cummings got in yesterday. He is Roosevelt's lawyer and I guess come out to straighten out some devilment his boss got in while here. Huey Long is getting more publicity out here in the papers than Hitler. If I am senkiss tomorrow you won't hear from me.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PASADENA, Aug. 4.—The death of Marie Dressler brings special interest to "Anna Christie," which will be played on the stage of the Pasadena Playhouse next Tuesday, August 7. It was in this masterpiece by Eugene O'Neill that Miss Dressler leaped into the star class on the screen.

The favorite, Victor Jory, will be seen in "Anna Christie" in the part of Matt Burke, who loved and fought with equal fierceness. Ralph Frend will be the old boss who hated the "Devil Sea."

CONFIRMATION OF HITLER IS SOUGHT AUG. 19

Funeral services will be held at Neudeck Monday night. These will be under the auspices of the army, honoring Hindenburg purely as an old soldier. Then the body will be taken from the chateau and escorted to Tannenberg and the great war memorial that commemorated Hindenburg's victory over the Russians. Funeral services at Tannenberg will begin at 11 a. m. Tuesday.

HITLER HAS MORE POWER THAN WILHELM
(By United Press)

Adolf Hitler enjoys more power than did Kaiser Wilhelm, or any other monarch of modern times, because he rules as a real autocrat, with no opposition of any sort in the open. He is absolute.

In prewar Germany, though the kaiser was powerful, he was by title a constitutional monarch. Hitler, like the kaiser, has a parliament—but it is a one party affair.

—but it is a one party affair, frequently for one day to rubber stamp its approval of acts for which Hitler desires formal parliamentary sanction.

There were strong socialist and communist parties in Germany before the war; to mention socialism or communism openly now is open sesame to a concentration camp. Hitler started out, in his absolutism, where the kaiser left off.

STOCKYARD STRIKE CONFERENCE HELD

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan was called into conference with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson today in a final effort to settle the strike that has paralyzed Chicago's union stock yards.

Judge Sullivan made the decision on which a strike settlement of last November was based. The strikers contend that the employers have not lived up to this agreement.

At the yards, peaceful picketing continued. A strong police detail was assigned to the yards, but apparently there was no use for them.

Officials of the stockyards company said, however, that violence was likely to break out at night.

Five hundred citizens were sworn in during the week as special police to help cope with the soldiers in event of trouble.

FREAK STORM CAUSES HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—An amazing wholesale extortion plot aimed at five prominent citizens and demanding $60,000 as the price of safety for themselves and their families was revealed today as federal and local officers launched a concerted drive to run down the gang which signed its letters "The Trio."

The threatened men include Orin Monnette, prominent banker; E. L. Doherty, multimillionaire oil man; William Gettle, recent kidnap victim; J. J. Doyle, sports promoter; and Alexander Pantages, theater owner.

While pointing out the probability that the notes were the work of a crank, federal postal officials called in district attorney and sheriff office aides to join the search for the letter writers.

LONG SHOWS NEW VIOLENCE IN DEFIANCCE OF COURT ORDER IN MINNEAPOLIS

and retaliate for his shooting of Earl Collins, 36, and George Schirte, 28. The driver, Leo Holcher, said about 15 members of a band of marauding pickets attacked his truck, pelting him with rocks. He fired into the group, putting them to rout.

St. Paul and Minneapolis editors said they would comply with the request as carrying any threat of military punishment.

GOVERNOR THREATENS RECALTRANT EMPLOYERS.
MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson announced today that he will smash tomorrow with all the power of a dictator at the recalcitrant employers of 6000 striking truck drivers.

At midnight tomorrow, the governor said, he will rule all but the most essential trucks off Minneapolis streets.

He had threatened to make the order effective today but a delay was requested by the Rev. Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal mediators. But, said the strike which provoked the ultimatum may be ended before that time.

Olson warned both union leaders and their employers, however, he would not alter further the embargo which would leave 516,000 persons with transportation facilities for only the barest necessities.

Only trucks carrying milk and gasoline, trucks in interstate commerce and trucks whose owners subscribe to the so-called "Haas-Dunnigan" proposal for settling the strike, will be permitted to use Minneapolis streets.

Employers were warned the ban will not be lifted until striking drivers obtain "decent" terms. Union leaders likewise were told National Guardsmen and a provost court will mete severe punishment to anyone violating any martial rule.

The governor's new ultimatum followed on the heels of a night raid on offices of the Citizens' Alliance, a secret membership group of business men which has backed the employers' advisory committee in fighting the union.

Ten picked gunmen, acting under personal orders of the governor, seized documents and records of the Alliance and held the offices for four hours. Records were turned over to accountants for analysis.

Olson said that "evidence gained corroborates my charge the Citizens' Alliance clique dominates and controls actions of the employers' advisory committee, that it maintains stool pigeons in various labor unions and discloses that the so-called law and order league was conceived and directed by the same clique."

ASKS BLOCKING OF 'NRA DICTATORSHIP'
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Charging that General Hugh S. Johnson "has been fighting to control the press and substitute NRA-made opinion for public opinion," Dean Carl A. Ackerman of the Columbia School of Journalism, today had called upon newspaper editors to block an "NRA dictatorship."

Johnson's attitude opposing a government subject to public opinion is a challenge to every citizen, Ackerman declared in a speech before the California Newspaper Publishers' association.

"The fight of the publishers for freedom of the press deprived the NRA administrator of his opportunity to establish a dictatorship by law," the journalist said.

"What General Johnson wants is a press that will take orders, a press that is edited by government yes-men who will suppress every opinion not approved by an American-made dictator of propaganda."

BOARD OFFICIALLY ACTS ON ELECTION

Preparing for a city election on August 20, the city council held an adjourned meeting at noon today and gave first reading to an ordinance setting August 20 as the date of balloting on a bond issue of $250,000 with which to pay off delinquencies on the 1915 special street assessment bonds.

Next Friday, the council will give final passage to the ordinance, it was learned. Previous action taken Thursday set the date for the special initiative election on the repeal of the advertising and music tax ordinance on August 20, thus combining the elections and saving considerable expense.

City Attorney Clyde Downing is proposing the bond election as the best method of evading a tax levy of $1.40 to pay for the delinquent bonds.

GAMBLING CASE TO BE GIVEN JURORS TODAY

Closing arguments were given this afternoon and the case given to the jury at the trial of the 13 men arrested by sheriff's officers in Ballard's Ship Parlor, in Seal Beach, charged with violation of the gambling and lottery laws.

The case was prolonged considerably by the slow selection of a jury yesterday and the repeated objections of the defense counsel, Samuel Lackman and Z. B. West Jr. The original panel of jurors was exhausted and a special venire of 10 used also. Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner is prosecuting the case.

Testimony this morning was given by Deputy Sheriff James Workman, R. E. Steinberger and James Muelek for the state and Harry Logan, one of the defendants, and J. Smith, owner of another chip game establishment, for the defense.

The defense contended that the chip game was for amusement only and therefore was not gambling, that the chips given were not of value, and that the chip game does not compare with roulette.

The officers described the game, and Workman said that an attendant had accompanied him to a nearby drug store to exchange his chips for cash.

Judge Fred Smith is presiding over the trial, which followed the case held Thursday for the four defendants arrested in Larry's Tango parlor, which ended in a hung jury, and will be retried.

Defendants on trial today are Charles Coleman, William Conner, Ogle Pieper, Bob Webb, J. P. Browner, Joseph Smith, Elsie F. Nelson, Roy Heckenkamp, Patrick Harrison, Frank Pieper, William J. Mulcannery, Larry W. Logan and Charles R. Wilson.

Ask Recognition Of Lima Beans As Specialty Crop

Furthering attempts of the rural credits committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau to have lima beans recognized by the government farm loan agencies as a specialty crop, R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau, today described an interview he had with A. S. Goss, land bank commissioner of Washington, D. C.

Flaherty quoted as expressing interest in the proposal, but being of the opinion that lima beans could not be declared a specialty crop without a change in the government rural credits law. Goss, who expressed interest in the proposal, said that oranges are recognized as a specialty crop because of a provision in the rural credits act which permits this distinction with tree crops.

Goss said if the Farm Bureau would get a preliminary survey of the situation completed and report to him he would get a definite ruling on the subject.

Inasmuch as lima beans are grown in other counties of the state, the committee, at the meeting yesterday afternoon decided to allow the California Farm Bureau Federation to handle the case for Orange county. R. J. McFadden, state delegate, was asked to present the case at the regional meeting in Laguna Beach August 18.

HUNDREDS AT WORK IN SUGAR MILL FACTORY

More than 400 persons were working today in the Holly Sugar company plant south of Santa Ana as factory operations were well under way after about a week and a half of operations in the current sugar season.

Supplies of sugar beets are ample to assure continued operation of the plant during the season, which is expected to last about 100 days, according to W. E. Baker, manager. Sugar content of the beets this season is running about 19 per cent, a normal amount.

Payroll for those employed in the plant is running about $1600 a day, in addition to the payroll for about 1000 persons engaged in field work who are paid by private contractors and farmers.

About 10,000 acres of sugar beets for use in making sugar at the local mill is to be harvested this season. Harvesting operations started a few days before the plant opened. It is expected that more than 100,000 tons of beets will be harvested and refined this year, which is about a normal crop.

It is indicated that sugar beet growers will receive from $700,000 to $1,000,000 in returns this season, an increase over last year. Under provisions of the recently adopted Jones-Costigan bill by congress, growers will benefit from increased prices, it was said. Average prices last year to growers ranged near $5.00 per ton of beets, while this year it is anticipated that returns will be around $6.50.

Mrs. Sally Coe Mueller, accompanied by Miss Gregg, sang "All for You" and "At Dawning." The professional and recreational were processed by Miss Gregg.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Frerking and a graduate of the Orange Union high school and of the University of California at Los Angeles, where she was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. NO. 6—TOOTH TOPICS—BY DR. CLARK

The irregularities of the permanent teeth are caused by too early extraction or too long a retention of the temporary or baby teeth; bad baby habits, such as thumb-sucking; mouth-breathing resulting from adenoids or constricted nasal passages; often the condition is hereditary and we find the same forms of irregularity in different members of the same family.

The correction of irregularities is a specialty of dentistry and the child who suffers from this form of malformation should be taken to an Orthodontist as early as possible so that the necessary correction can be made before the bone tissue becomes hard and dense.

Impactions or unerupted teeth are usually the third molars or wisdom teeth; cusps or eye teeth sometimes fail to put in their appearance.

This affliction may be the cause of numerous troubles, neuralgia, headaches, ear and eye disturbances, and in fact, even insanity has been traced to impacted third molars, and a complete recovery made on their removal.

A good X-Ray of the area is an absolute necessity in the diagnosis and surgical removal of these troublesome teeth.

By HARRY GRAYSON

Although he was still suffering from the stomach ailment contracted before his triumphant parade in the United States Open in early June, Olin Dutra journeyed from Chicago to Buffalo to appear in the Professional Golfers' Association championship tourney.

Dutra did this after being forced to cancel a series of exhibitions with Walter Hagen, and spending some time in a hospital. Friends are alarmed about Dutra's health.

The Portuguese golfer continues to lose weight after all these weeks.

Dutra was so ill that he was unable to qualify for the P. G. A., but it was the pro's own show, and he desired to give it the added prestige of having the Open titleholder as a competitor.

Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, rejected exhibition offers in Europe, and, with Denny Shute, hurried back from St. Andrews to be among those present.

Professional golfers are nearer an amateur status than money players in any other line of sport. Prizes are negligible, and, like most teachers, the general run of them are poorly paid.

GOOD PLAY OR NO PLAY
Paul Runyan, for example, had only $7000 to show after his all-conquering tour of last winter, during which he captured no fewer than eight tournaments in a game requiring as much or more skill than any other, and one that takes more out of an athlete than some sports involving physical contact.

After acquiring the Metropolitan Open and P. G. A., the brilliant Runyan's winnings totaled only $8500, and $1000 of that sum came in the way of a bonus from a sporting goods house.

Less than $1000 apiece for ten major victories, each involving days of painstaking and pulse-quickenning stroking against fields so fast that one could not afford to make a mistake—where a single good or bad shot spelled the difference between the headlines and also ran agate type.

With a key-up sharpshooter, each club had to be kept in that old groove all the while.

Professional golf is the lone sport in which a participant must win to be paid. A poor performance here means nothing more than scant transportation, and frequently not even that.

NEW FIELD FORDABLE
But, after all, the golf professionals have the best game of all, and are not complaining. There is a fine spirit of comradeship among them, and they have elevated their profession to undreamed-of heights.

There is a splendid new group up from the caddy ranks, too—the most formidable since the one headed by Gene Sarazen following the war.

Quite naturally, this one is topped by the 26-year-old Runyan, the little man with the big spoon.

and includes Ky Laffoon, handsome part Cherokee of Denver; Dick Metz, of Lake Forest, Ill.; Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N. Y.; Johnny Revolta, of Milwaukee; Victor Chedal, of Salinas, Calif.; Gene Kunes, of Jeffersonville, Pa.; and Bob Crowley, of Dedham, Mass.

Keep your weather eye peeled for these young fellows—all home bred. It is from among them that the new Hazens and Sarazens will come. Indeed, Runyan already has taken rank with the greats, and the others—Laffoon, Metz, Barron, Revolta and Crowley, in particular—are only a masher shot behind.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Barnyard golf is coming back stronger than ever. . . It is estimated that more than a million persons have joined organized horseshoe pitching clubs in this country. . . Half an hour before Dorothy Poynton Hill climbed the ladder for her first dive in the National Women's A. U. swimming meet in Detroit, she had to have a physician freeze the first and second fingers of her right hand to stop pain suffered after she had crushed the digits the night before. . . Several of the Chicago Cubs who are making the team go places were on the auction block last winter, notably Pat Malone, Woody English and Babe Herman, while big Jim Weaver, who has been doing some fancy hurling, wasn't with the outfit.

Gene Sarazen is a farmer of the gentleman type. . . the golf star operates quite a layout at Brookfield Center, Conn. . . Gene Tunney is only two pounds above the weight at which he defended the heavyweight title. . . Jim Brown's brother didn't go in for wrestling. . . he is a pitcher with the Reading club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

AVIATORS TRIM TORRANCE, TOP NIGHT LEAGUE

Westminster's Aviators today scored into undisputed possession of first place in the National Night Ball league, definitely established as the team to beat for the second-half championship.

The hard-hitting Flyers passed Torrance last night by the simple but effective expedient of defeating last year's titleholders. The score was 11-2. Westminster hammered Roy Harris out of the box in five innings and continuing the bombardment against Pitcher Pauech, Torrance's new acquisition.

After scoring single runs in the first, second and third, the Aviators got to Harris for five more in the fifth on singles by Daley and Smith, doubles by Nelson and Urbine, and a home run by Ray Hapes with one aboard. Harris retired after this rally.

Out in front by a full game, Westminster now appears ready to live up to pre-season ratings when it was established as co-favorite with Huntington Beach. With its slump behind, Westminster goes into the next six games—Olive, Fullerton, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and Long Beach—with everything in its favor.

The Aviators added Joe Cornelius, former Santa Ana pitcher, to their roster last night. He played right field and collected one hit, a double.

Huntington Beach all but eliminated Anaheim from the second-half by trouncing the Valencians, 3-1, at Anaheim. "Chico" Sabella outpitched "String" McDonnell and got better support.

Anaheim scored first, Comstock driving a triple to right in the third inning and tallying on Wallace's single. Huntington Beach tied it in the fourth. McKinley singled. He went to second on Schuchardt's out to third on Comstock's error on Thierly's grounder, home on Murray's hit.

Schuchardt's home run over Moody in left field put Huntington Beach ahead in the sixth, and the Oilers added another for good measure in the same round when Thierly Murray and Lower bunched singles.

Setting a new National league record, Earl Morrill, veteran Fullerton pitcher, shutout Long Beach for the fourth time in succession at Fullerton last night, completing 36 innings of consecutive scoreless ball against the tail-enders.

Morrill had to work hard for his victory, however, as Deane Downer was in top form himself. The only run of the contest was made by Fullerton in the fourth when Tom Hoban, who had forced Thomas at second on a fielder's choice, scored from first on Harper's double to left which Outfielder Sackett fumbled.

Fullerton's victory kept the Bellhops in the running for the second-half flag.

Virginia, Dallas Jeffers of Long Beach municipal, Clark Spiers of Meadbrook, Joe Hunter of Santa Ana, Vic Owen of Willowick and "Chuck" Denio of Santa Ana.

DRESSSEN TO HANDLE REDS THROUGH 1935

CINCINNATI, Aug. 4.—Cincinnati is back in the baseball news with a bang. The energetic Larry MacPhail has put it up to Chas. Dresssen to keep it in the limelight. Dresssen, this baseman of the Reds for six years, starting in 1925, is back in Red togs, this time as manager of the club, with a contract calling for him to pilot the team the remainder of this year and all of next.

The decision to make a change in Cincinnati's managers was a hasty one, although the fans have the idea that McCall decided suddenly to replace Bob O'Farrell with Dresssen.

MacPhail decided some time back that O'Farrell was not the man he wanted to head the playing end of the organization. He is building up with funds provided largely by Powell Crosley Jr., president of the Reds. He came to the conclusion that O'Farrell lacked the drive he wanted in his manager and also that Bob's kind of baseball was not his kind. The mere fact that the Reds were losing at least two games out of three was not the determining factor, although it had quite a bearing on the decision.

Having decided to make a change no later than next year, sooner, MacPhail began looking over the field of minor league managers for his next pilot. He was determined to get a man who had experience as a manager of the Cincinnati Reds, thus eliminating Jim Bottomley, captain of the Reds; Ed Roush, the greatest and most popular player to wear Red hose in modern times; and several others. He went to the Pacific coast and watched the way Oscar Vitt handled the Hollywood team. He looked over the work of several American league pilots, including Wade Killefer, at Indianapolis, and Spencer Abbott at Atlanta. He considered "Rabbit" Maranville. MacPhail finally decided that Dresssen was the man he wanted. Charley's method of handling the Nashville team appealed strongly to Larry.

DAUGHTER BORN TO DEEPEYS

'Yes Sir, She's My Baby'

Football broke into Santa Ana's sport news for the first time in months today when Attorney Loren Smith, manager of the independent, announced that the Spartan Athletic club would sponsor a team again this fall. Practice, he said, would start August 15.

The Spartans will play a complete schedule of night football at the Municipal Bowl, meeting several college teams in addition to the Long Beach Ramblers, the West Coast Eagles, the San Diego Submarine Base, the Santa Barbara Athletic club, Huntington Park Lions and other independent eleven.

Smith requests last year's players and any others interested to report to him at his office, Room 207, Builders Exchange building.

PARKER ROUTS MIDGET GRANT IN THREE SETS

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Frankie Parker, smooth stroking young tennis marvel from Spring Lake, N. J., swept through Bryan ("Bitty") Grant of Atlanta, Ga., today in straight sets to capture the annual Meadow club invitational tennis title.

Scores were 6-3, 9-7, 6-0.

The 13-year-old former Milwaukee Lad, who won his way to eighth position in National rankings last year but slipped far below that form in earlier matches this year, appeared once more to have scaled tennis heights as he crushed the "mighty mite" from Georgia.

Grant, standing five-foot-two and weighing only 125, was no match for the polished hitting of the boy from the middle-west, now making his home in New Jersey. Grant made his greatest stand in the second set, where he forced Parker to the sixteenth game before succumbing.

The pace was killing, however. Parker was seldom off his game, raking the court with blistering shots that forced the Georgia midget to race from line to line.

Parker never gave Grant a chance to unfold his usual tactics of playing slowly from the baseline and forcing his foe to play Grant's own game. Instead, Parker tore into the attack at every opportunity, blasting Grant off the court in the last set.

The win for Parker is expected to mark the beginning of a drive which may carry him to the top of the National list. He starts play at Longwood Monday, and will continue through the Newport Casino the following week, the East-West matches at South Orange, N. J., and then the Nationals at Forest Hills next month.

HAMAS, LASKY SIGN FOR SEPT. 27 BOUT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—First of the heavyweight elimination bouts to determine a contender for Max Baer among the American group will be staged September 27 at Madison Square Garden's Long Island bowl, Steve Hamas, Passaic, N. J., and Art Lasky of Los Angeles.

Hamas signed yesterday, and agreed to fight under Garden auspices for the rest of this year.

JACK CRIES AT FIRST VIEW OF 7-POUND BABY

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP) Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, whose "killer instinct" was a prize ring tradition, wept for joy today at the sight of his new-born daughter.

The infant was born to his wife, the former Hannah Williams, stage star. After a night of fretful waiting, a morning of ecstatic jubilation, Dempsey tip-toed into a room at Polytechnic hospital for his first peek at his child.

When he came out his eyes were red, filled with tears. "She's beautiful," he said softly, "beautiful. A little angel sent down from heaven."

Scores were 6-3, 9-7, 6-0.

The 13-year-old former Milwaukee Lad, who won his way to eighth position in National rankings last year but slipped far below that form in earlier matches this year, appeared once more to have scaled tennis heights as he crushed the "mighty mite" from Georgia.

Grant, standing five-foot-two and weighing only 125, was no match for the polished hitting of the boy from the middle-west, now making his home in New Jersey. Grant made his greatest stand in the second set, where he forced Parker to the sixteenth game before succumbing.

The pace was killing, however. Parker was seldom off his game, raking the court with blistering shots that forced the Georgia midget to race from line to line.

Parker never gave Grant a chance to unfold his usual tactics of playing slowly from the baseline and forcing his foe to play Grant's own game. Instead, Parker tore into the attack at every opportunity, blasting Grant off the court in the last set.

The win for Parker is expected to mark the beginning of a drive which may carry him to the top of the National list. He starts play at Longwood Monday, and will continue through the Newport Casino the following week, the East-West matches at South Orange, N. J., and then the Nationals at Forest Hills next month.

SPARTANS TO SPONSOR GRID SQUAD AGAIN

Football broke into Santa Ana's sport news for the first time in months today when Attorney Loren Smith, manager of the independent, announced that the Spartan Athletic club would sponsor a team again this fall. Practice, he said, would start August 15.

The Spartans will play a complete schedule of night football at the Municipal Bowl, meeting several college teams in addition to the Long Beach Ramblers, the West Coast Eagles, the San Diego Submarine Base, the Santa Barbara Athletic club, Huntington Park Lions and other independent eleven.

Smith requests last year's players and any others interested to report to him at his office, Room 207, Builders Exchange building.

PARKER ROUTS MIDGET GRANT IN THREE SETS

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Frankie Parker, smooth stroking young tennis marvel from Spring Lake, N. J., swept through Bryan ("Bitty") Grant of Atlanta, Ga., today in straight sets to capture the annual Meadow club invitational tennis title.

Scores were 6-3, 9-7, 6-0.

The 13-year-old former Milwaukee Lad, who won his way to eighth position in National rankings last year but slipped far below that form in earlier matches this year, appeared once more to have scaled tennis heights as he crushed the "mighty mite" from Georgia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP) Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, whose "killer instinct" was a prize ring tradition, wept for joy today at the sight of his new-born daughter.

DRILLING WORK CONTINUES ON 2 WELLS AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Aug. 4.—The Pratt Collins Development company, its No. 1 well at the intersection of Santa Isabel street and Tustin avenue, is at present making hole near the 2000-foot level. It was learned from the log of the well. It is reported that the drill has passed through several strata of what is believed to be high grade oil sand. Following delays because of too light equipment for a hole of that depth, heavier machinery has been installed and the drilling is now being kept running for 24 hours each day. The crew is living on property adjacent to the lease.

Operations have been resumed on the Harding No. 1 on the Banning lease in North Costa Mesa. The drilling crews are reaming in preparation for running the surface pipe, following which the hole will be cleaned to bottom. It was stated by those in charge, and a liner will be set in preparation for a production test. The hole is finished to near the 1000-foot level, and it is believed that enough high quality oil sand has been penetrated to make a commercial producer. The Spiek Oil company, which has a hole drilled to the 1050 level on the Derby ranch immediately across the line from Harding No. 1, is standing idle awaiting developments at the Harding well.

Mechanical difficulties in the old Nuoli well on the Banning estate in South Costa Mesa is causing considerable delay in bringing the well to a production test. It was stated by those in charge. The well has been completed to the 6000-foot level, but in reaming and cleaning the hole in preparation for giving it a production test, some of the drilling tools were lost in the hole and at present the crews are fishing for the lost equipment.

NEW GAS STATIONS SLATED FOR BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 4.—Two new gasoline service stations are planned for this city. Miss Lois B. Avery, member of the high school faculty at Ontario, and prominent property owner in Huntington Beach, is having a service station erected at Fifth and Walnut avenues. It is to be a modern de luxe station and will be under lease to the Union Oil company.

The Associated Oil company has taken a 10-year lease on the Eugene Sarabere home place at the corner of Ocean and Fifth and will erect a modern service station there to be operated under lease by Andy Teague, pioneer gasoline and oil service station operator of the city and now operating the Associated Triangle station at the corner of Fifth and Main.

Leona E. Horn To Wed Sumner Stowe

BUENA PARK, Aug. 4.—Miss Leona Ethel Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Horn of South Grand avenue will welcome the bride of Sumner Norman Stowe, of National City, son of Mrs. Lillis Stowe, at 4 p. m., August 19, at the Congregational church. The pastor, the Rev. La Rue C. Watson, will officiate.

WELL STARTED AT H. B. OVER YEAR AGO NOW ON PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 4.—The McVicer-Rood organization, which put the Huntington Beach oil field back on the map after it was supposed to be a "has been," scored another triumph this week in bringing in the Messenger well, also known as the Gisk well, on Eighteenth street between Ocean and Walnut, for a 273-barrel gusher, flowing 25 gravity oil, and about 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

This well was the stumbling block of several practical operators and a number of drill crews and defied all efforts to bring it in as a producer. For eight or ten weeks H. B. McVicer with picked drill crews tried to put a six-inch hole with its end a mile away underground into an oil pool somewhere under the Pacific, without tapping into another well finished somewhere near where they had to finish the Messenger well.

After spending more than $40,000 and more than two months' time, the operators brought the Messenger well in. It was started more than a year ago, and at least half a dozen outfits have given up in despair on the job. It was to protect their own big wells in that vicinity and other big wells that McVicer-Rood decided to take on the wrestling match with the Messenger well.

The state has announced there will be no more permits granted for drilling into the ocean pool. The total wells out there from town lots now number 82. All are on production.

Court Action On Sewer Plant Site Planned at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—Failure on the part of the city authorities and the Thurston interests to agree upon a price for a tract of land situated at the mouth of the Laguna canyon, to be used as a site for the new sewer treatment plant, will force the former to invoke condemnation proceedings, inquiries at the city hall revealed today.

In this connection, it was learned that a special committee made up of Councilmen L. F. Mallow and Howard G. Heister and City Attorney Melburn Harvey has been conferring with the property owners relative to acquisition of the property. The city, following an appraisal, has offered $1500 for the tract, containing about one and a half acres. The owners are holding out for $2500, it was reported.

WILKE TELLS HOLD FUNERAL MAJOR PLANKS SERVICES FOR IN BEACH TALK CRASH VICTIMS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—Making the first home town speech of his vigorous campaign for the office of sheriff of Orange county, Capt. Don Wilkie last night at the Laguna Beach American Legion hall swung into a clear-cut explanation as to the major planks of his unique platform and pledged himself in no uncertain terms to take and keep office to that effect, he elected to that office.

"The time has come when the sound thinking voters and taxpayers of Orange county, and every other county, are awake to the folly of electing inefficient politicians to important public offices that spend thousands of dollars of public tax money," Captain Wilkie declared. "People, with the exception of a few who still cling to long-haired and lusty bellowing political bosses, are out to vote for efficiency and the man who is best fitted for the office to be filled. You would not elect as your sheriff a butcher, a baker or a candlestick maker."

"I bring you 30 years of intimate contact and a close study of crime and crime detection in many parts of the world. I was for 20 years trained in the methods of Uncle Sam. I served in the United States Secret Service for years. I represented the government in delicate missions abroad. I had occasion to visit the United States, in the solution of major crimes, in England and France and arranged in a typical manner attached to the intelligence units of the United States army and navy, the most hazardous branch of war time service, is something of which I feel justly proud."

In pointing to new plans which he declared he would put into effect immediately if elected, Captain Wilkie referred to a carefully prepared map of Orange county, arranged into a typical maneuver map such as his army experience suggested. He explained his plan of protecting Orange county as a great treasure vault by the establishment of sheriff's substations located at strategic points and placing of sheriff's radio patrol cars so as to be able to block every artery into or out of the county within 10 minutes. The plan would be the most effective in the United States, the speaker declared, and could be established and maintained without additional cost to the taxpayers.

Directing his remarks to the ex-service men, Captain Wilkie called for co-operation in battling the criminal element in the county. "We are always at war with crime," he said, "and when we are at war we must employ war tactics. The ex-service men know what that means, and if I am elected to serve you as sheriff, I want to be assured of the whole-hearted co-operation of the Legion and all other service organizations. I plan to have organized in the county an auxiliary committee composed of men and women of the highest type who will meet with me at regular intervals in friendly and helpful advisory sessions. It is my firm determination to be a sheriff of the people and for the people. I will have no political axes to grind. I know we are naturally bitterly opposed to me. I am not a politician. I don't care to learn. I have never before held or sought public office, and if I am elected to lead your law-enforcement branch I will enter upon the task a free man who can and will plunge into the work without fear of offending on somebody's campaign. There are no fences around my campaign," the speaker declared. "I will bring you a record of 30 years in law-enforcement service, but I can't offer you one day in politics."

In further explanation of his platform Captain Wilkie promised to keep the public fully informed on activities of the sheriff's office. Captain Wilkie was introduced by Dr. Vincent P. Carroll, prominent Laguna Beach physician and recently retired president of the Laguna Rotary club. Others who made brief speeches in support of Captain Wilkie's nomination were the Rev. Ray I. Brahm, pastor of the Community church at Laguna Beach; Dr. Spencer Miller, well known retired engineer and civic worker; Miss Elba Johnson, Laguna educator, and Chris Valente, local business man.

"Yes, but why did James have to dash off the same day, that's what I want to know?" pursued Gregory Lawrence, unappeased. "He was a fine boy and I'd had him for years—ever since I'd died. You know I hate to drive myself and it's a job getting anybody properly trained on short notice. Most upsetting."

LAGUNA BEACH FARCE COMEDY PLEASES CROWD

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—"The Whole Town's Talking," was the title of a clever farce comedy presented Friday night by the Laguna Beach Community players at the Community playhouse on Ocean avenue, and today the whole town was talking of the clever performance of the individual players.

The play was written by John Emerson and Anita Loos, and the local production was directed by Gene Oatman, well-known player and director connected with the Community players. The play will be repeated tonight and next Saturday, August 11.

Because of unforeseen difficulties in assembling the cast, it was necessary at the last moment for Director Oatman to step in and play the part of "Henry Simmons," one of the principal roles, in which assignment he proved himself equally good as an actor as that of directing the production. Jack Deane, with years of professional experience, as "Chester Binney," handled the part to perfection.

Miss Polly Wuchonow, formerly connected with the Pasadena Community players, lived up to her reputation as a talented player and gave an entertaining performance as a temperamental screen actress. Others of the cast who contributed to the success of the amusing comedy were Priscilla Frazer, Barbara Paize, McCauley Ropp, Anna Wigton, Burton Stanciloff, Betty Ritchie, Margo Sonstetter, Haring Griggs and Ramona Harris, in their respective roles.

Others who lent their services to the production are Claire McCullough, stage manager and properties; Volney Tanner, electrician, and Helen Monahan, in charge of the wardrobe. The sets were constructed by Frank Goddard and Len Hildre, and decorations by Tom Pillsbury.
